This Year's Model

Well, it looks as if another school year has passed us by again. Looking back on all the things that have happened, it is easy to see why a two hundred page book is necessary to record it all. This year's model goes from all the great times people had last summer, to that dreaded first day of school, to all the clubs, activities, and crazy things that went into this school year. This book has been filled with pictures and stories to record our memories. The year just wouldn't be complete without a year-book: This Year's Model.

LIFE

Our Model Life

Life at R-B is very special. During our four years here, we gain wonderful memories that we can treasure for a life time. Memories of friends, teachers, activities and classes are ours to cherish over the years. This year, many things happened to make life at R-B even more exceptional. Dateline R-B got an elaborate new studio, the weight room received more equipment to help our athletes, class curriculums were up-dated, and in general, R-B changed for the better.

A summer in England is an enjoyable experience for Sherri Stahnke.

Resting on a stone fence, Mary Shields poses for this shot in Ireland.

In the summer, a group of friends get together for a pool party.

In the good old summertime.

What's your favorite season? If you're like most R-B students, your answer would be "Summer". Perhaps the magic of summer's popularity lies in the things it includes. Summer is lying in the sun on a big beach towel smelling faintly of suntan lotion, on the soft grass in your backyard. Summer is taking a leisurely bike ride down the paved trails through the scenic forest preserves, and stopping at 31 Flavors for an ice cream cone. Summer is cruising around on a humid night with no particular destination in mind. Summer is a backyard barbecue, picnics in the forest preserve, hot dogs, hamburgers and french fries.

Summer is the job that is earning the money to: a) put you through college, b) get a car of your own, c) pay for your insurance for the car, d) pay for the gas your car eats up, or, e) pay for the repairs your dad's car needs since you totalled it.

Summer is vacations. Going to the cottage with the family, waterskiing for the first time (and loving it!), travelling in your camper, flying in a plane to Europe — all of these activities comprised students' vacations. Some kids went in groups with their friends; others travelled with their families. Some simply stayed home and enjoyed long hours of free time.

Summer is Frisbees, friends, free time — everything that is young and fresh and alive. Summer represents the child in all of us; the season when numbers and grades and textbooks aren't important. Summer brings out the free spirit in all of us. It's the students' salvation after nine months of school. No wonder it's an R-Bite favorite!

Perched on some rocks, Carol Bronsteader takes a break from hiking in the Rockies.

Buried alive, Andy Koehler, Paul Windsor and Dave Zoufal seem to be having a fun summer.

Relaxing, Laura Frait, Liz Dvorak and Tammy Tomazin enjoy their Wyoming trip with the Band.

Dwarfed by the mountains in Colorado, Jill Thompson absorbs the beautiful scenery.

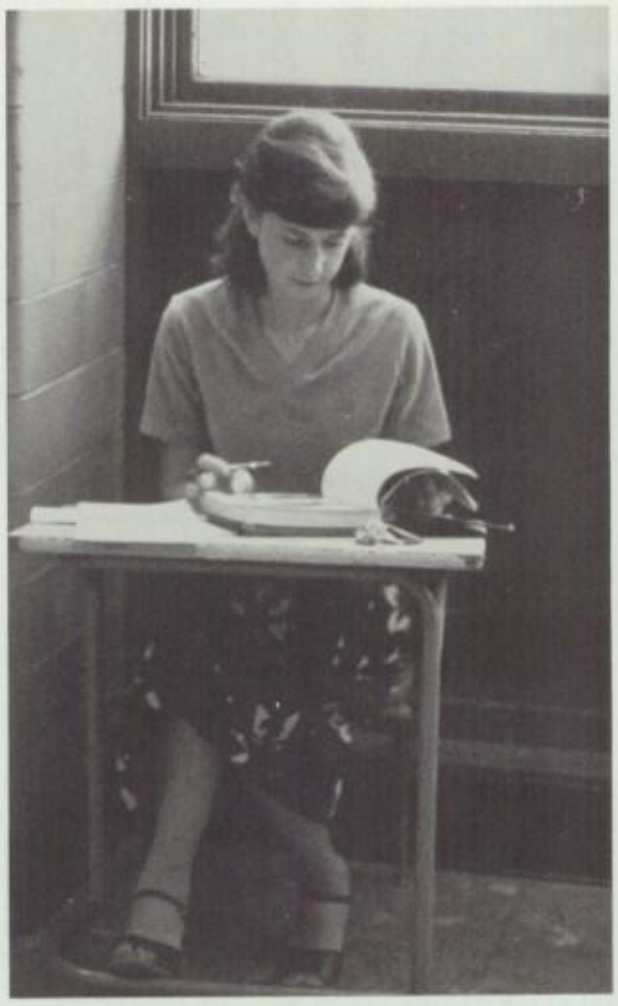
School's In!

For the first time in almost three months, your alarm wakes you up at around six or seven o'clock. After finally making the effort to get out of bed, you realize that another school year is staring you in the face. How could the summer have possibly gone by so fast?

Having little choice in the matter, you get on your way. Before reaching the day-prison, you feel horrified when you think about all the tests, compositions, and homework awaiting you there. You wonder if it will be possible to make it through another year. It seems as if it will be forever before June arrives once more.

Finally you arrive. Standing before you in that familiar, ominous looking building is good old R-B. You enter and immediately are overtaken. After taking a quick glance at your schedule, you go on to your locker, hoping to remember the combination. Already you know it's going to be a long day.

Suddenly, a friend you haven't seen all summer comes up and trips you. You share a laugh, talk about the summer, and go on to your first hour class. On your way, you see a lot of your friends and remember the fun times you had last year. All those great weekends and after school activities were enjoyable as well. Even though a major part of school work was boring, there were some things, like field trips that could even be considered fun. As you go through the day, you realize that maybe school won't be as bad after all. Maybe you'll even want to come back tomorrow!

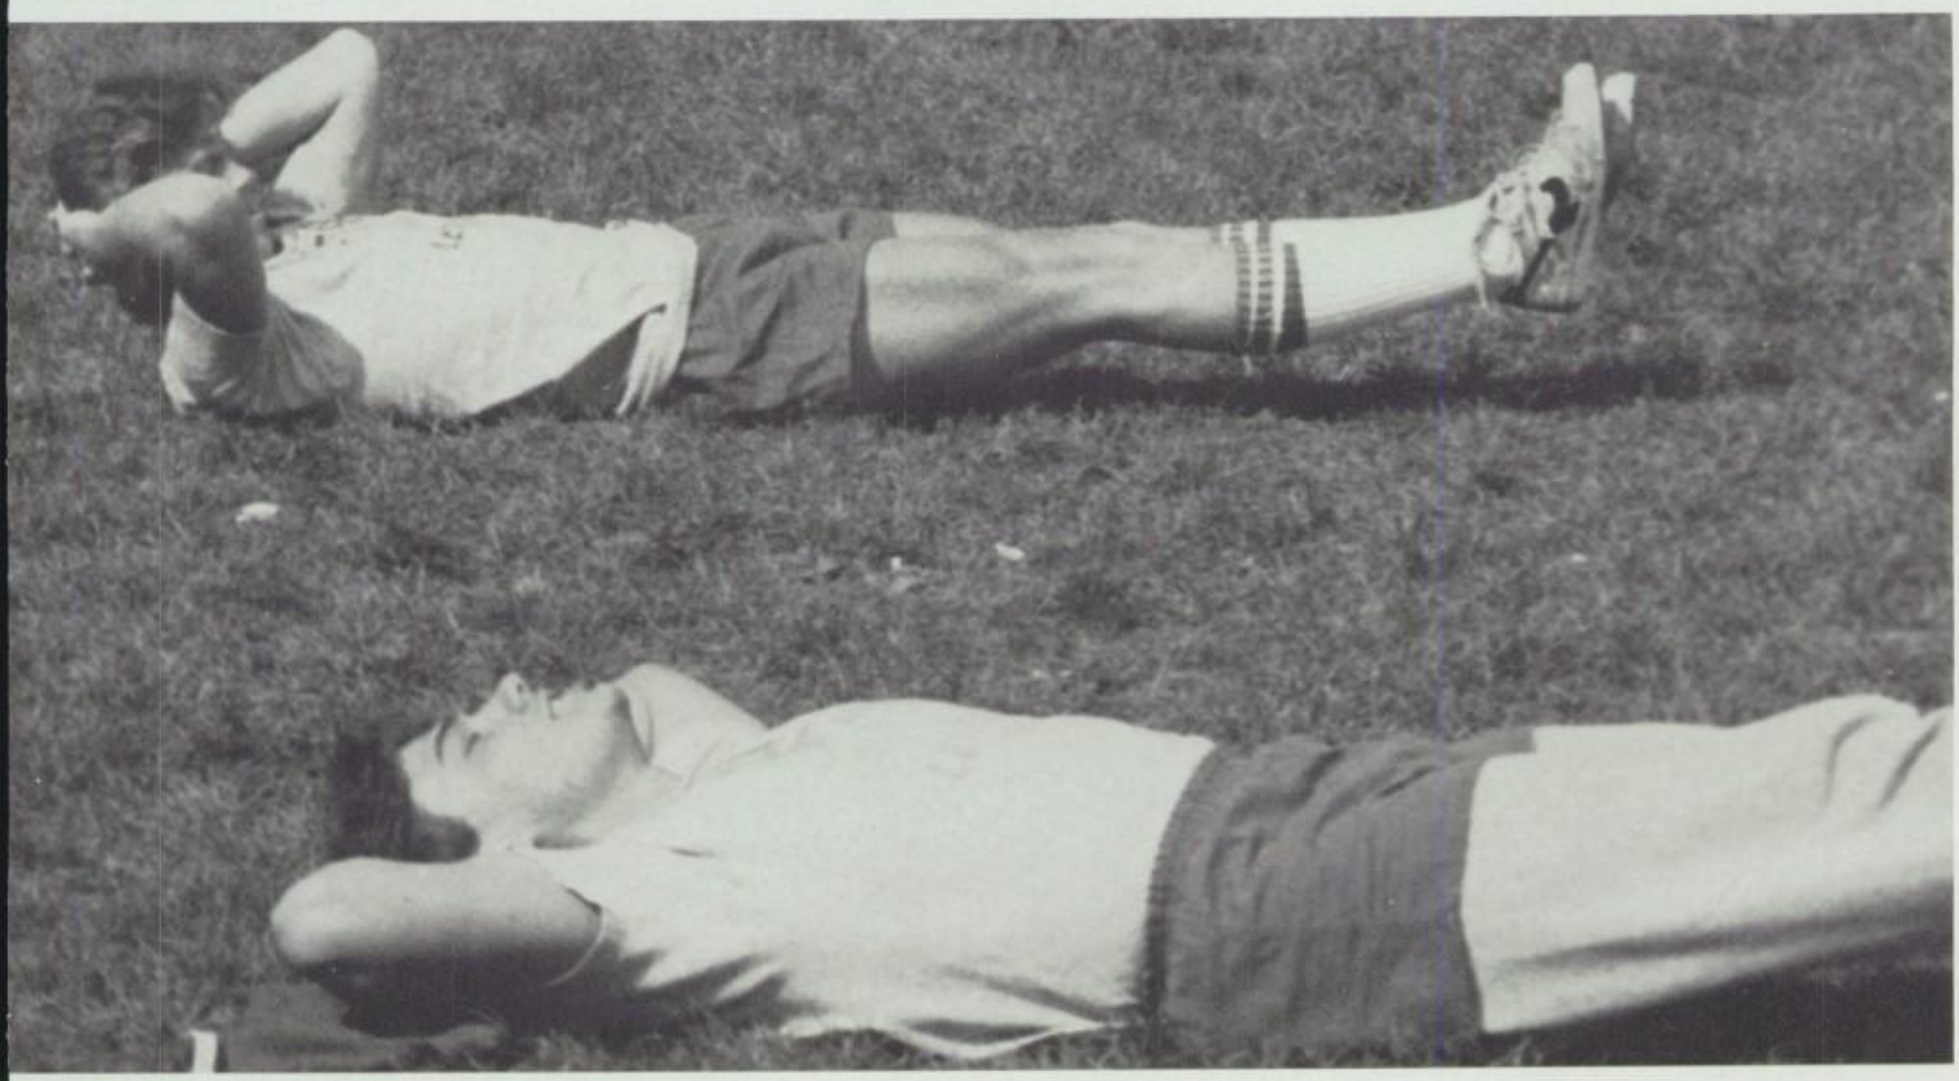


Catching up on some paperwork, Miss Mroczek makes the best of hall duty.

Studying in the library, Keith Vaux, Matt Phillips, and Diane Bruck work on their homework.

A happy-looking Vicki Leadley seems to be glad to be back in school.

Helping each other out, Kelly Donavin and Michelle Zalig work on their homework before school.



Getting back into the P.E. routine, two students shape up with sit-ups.

Speaking at orientation, Miss Harris tries to make the freshmen feel at ease.

At the Homecoming game, Bronko Beketic demonstrates his powerful kicking capabilities.

Year of the Dragon

This year's Homecoming, with an Oriental theme, was a total success and a credit to Student Association who sponsored it.

The Friday night pep rally was a climax to weeks of planning, voting, and confusion. Following the plot from the movie, "The Fiendish Plot of Doctor Fu Manchu", the event was enjoyable for all, especially Amy Kokenes, who was crowned Homecoming queen.

The parade, entitled "Parade of the Dragon" took place the next morning. Fortunately there was no rain, but there was a strong wind which was threatening to the elaborate floats. The Juniors took first place for best class float, with a second by the Sophomores. Best organizational float was awarded to the Band with second place won by German Club.

Next came the football game, christened "The Rice Bowl". Unfortunately, the Varsity and Sophomore teams both lost, but the Freshmen pulled through for a victory!

Riding with the Sophomore float, Michelle Volpe gets into the Oriental spirit.

The court observes the Homecoming game with lots of enthusiasm.

The class of '82 proudly displays their awesome first place "teapot" float.

Dancing in a Teahouse

The 1980 Homecoming dance, which had a record turn-out, was entitled, "Tea House of the October Moon" to coincide with the Oriental theme.

The gym, transformed by elaborate decorations, was a romantic setting for the enthusiastic crowd. The music was provided by Bonita Dreams, a band specializing in everything from rock to country to even a little disco.

Afterwards, many couples, who were caught up in the spirit of the dance, went out for Chinese or Japanese food. Going downtown was also a favorite for many because dinner could be followed by a leisurely stroll by the Lake.

Arriving home around midnight or later, couples had very special memories of a very special dance in a "Tea House of the October Moon".

Dancing among the streamers, Diane Bauer and Tim Tlusty discuss the evening.

Getting into the music, Liz Wilp and Mike Burke enjoy the dance.

All together, the court and their escorts dance and get rowdy.

The 1980 court was Karen Spevak, Liz Wilp, Queen Amy Kokenes, Tammy Johnson, and Debbie Ostrowoski. Their escorts were John Senser, Mike Burke, Terry Herbig, Craig Shannon, and Tom Kuhn.

Before entering the dance, Milan Marsenic and Yvonne Balsamo add their names to the mural.

Towards the beginning of the dance, couples chat and walk amidst the drop ceiling.

Thanking Mary Beth Maranich for her work on the main gym, Patti Marshall (S.A. president) offers her a rose.

Once upon a mattress

The simplicity and romance of the Middle Ages alighted on R-B's auditorium stage for three nights in March 1980, when R-B Theatre presented the musical, "Once Upon a Mattress".

The show opened with a typical fairy tale kingdom — typical except that everyone in it was miserable. The cause of all this gloom was the tyrannical Queen Aggravain (Liz Kucko). She had set herself up as monarch of the kingdom, since her girl-chasing husband, King Sextimus (John Caruso) couldn't talk, having been struck dumb by a witch's curse. Since the King was incapable of ruling, the queen gained a complete stranglehold of power on the unfortunate kingdom.

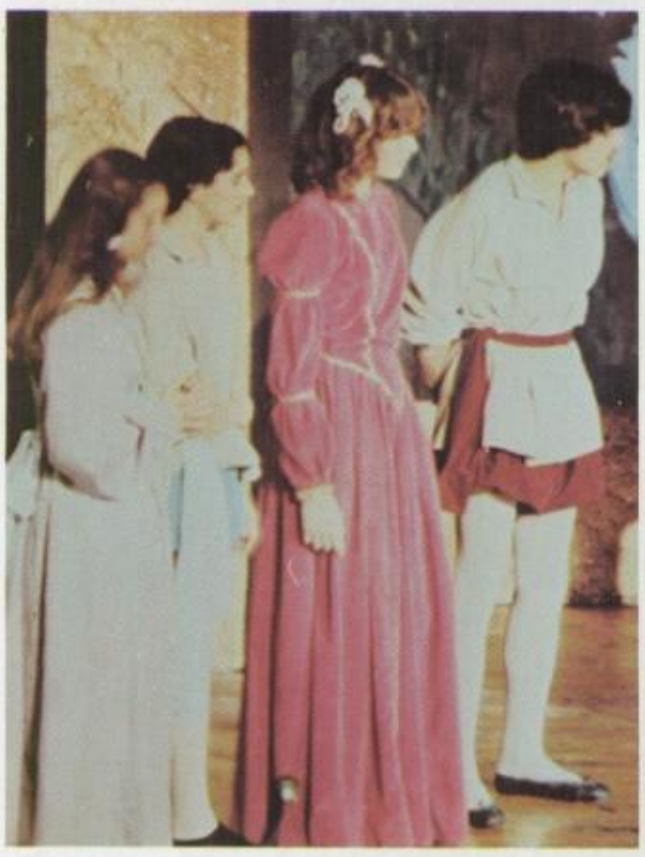
The Queen had decreed that no one in the kingdom could marry until a princess was found to be the bride for her son, Prince Dauntless (Steve Kolack). She also decreed that any prospective princess must first pass a "royalty test". The Queen made up the tests which were impossible to pass.

Twelve princesses had to take these royalty tests, and all inevitably failed, leaving the kingdom in despair. Particularly distressed was Lady Larken (Nancy Sheehan) who was pregnant with the child of her lover, Sir Harry (Andy Koehler). To keep her respectability, Larken knew she must marry Harry, and she couldn't do so until a bride for the Prince was found. So she told Harry to search for a suitable princess for Dauntless. Sir Harry searched the countryside and returned with a boisterous girl named Winnifred (Betsy Quinn). Fred (as she preferred to be called) seemed an unlikely specimen of a royal princess. Despised by the Queen, Fred was immediately loved by the Prince because of her good nature and warm heart.

The Queen decreed that the test Fred must pass was one of "sensitivity". The test stated that she must sleep for one night on a bed of twenty mattresses piled on top of each other — with one tiny pea tucked under the bottom mattress. If Fred could feel the pea beneath all the layers, she and Dauntless could be wed.

The audiences seemed to enjoy the show, for the crowds were large every night. In the end, everything worked out: Fred passed the test and married Dauntless; King Sextimus regained his voice; the Queen was struck dumb; the marriage ban was lifted; Larken and Harry were married; and everyone lived "happily ever after".

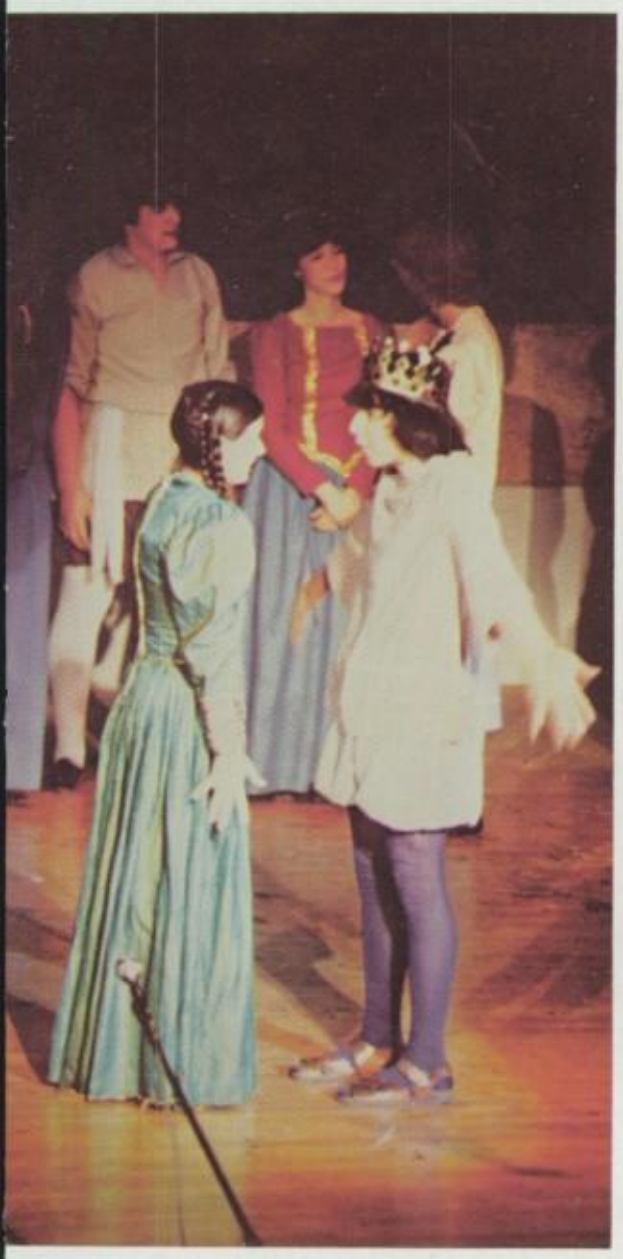
Describing their antics, John Caruso, Dennis Golden, and Paul Windsor perform their big number.



Singing, Andy Koehler tells Nancy Sheehan, "Yesterday I loved you."

Court members Amy Jeziorski, Dave Doss, Sue Kucko, and Mike Kravcar witness "Fred's" entrance.

ssembled in the court, the cast for "Once Upon Mattress" takes their curtain call.



Happy to see a new princess, Dauntless (Steve Kolack) meets Winifred (Betsy Quinn).

Singing and dancing, Paul Windsor tells of his "Very Soft Shoes".

Explaining the facts of life to his son, King Sextimus (John Caruso) stresses his point.

Minute by minute

On a warm, clear May evening, couples clad in shimmery evening finery arrived at Marlac House to dance and enjoy each moment of Prom 1980, entitled "Minute by Minute". Sponsored by the junior class, the dance was well attended and a pleasurable experience for all of those who came.

Although a few couples chose to truly arrive "first class" to prom by making a grand entrance in a chauffered limousine, the entire atmosphere was more natural and casual than in previous years. Dancing and socializing with friends followed the provided appetizers, which consisted of hot hors-d'oeuvres and soda. Couples were attired in the usual dazzling costumes, but the look was more elegant and understated. "Girls' attire seemed to reflect upon a simpler, more natural theme," remarked senior Linda Slance, "the look was soft, not severe."

Guys wore the traditional, smoothly tailored suits, many donning top hats, canes, and tails to complete their outfits. After the dance, guys traveled far and wide to escort their dates to a chic, fancy dining spot. Expensive restaurants in downtown Chicago were a popular choice, since the exquisite dining atmosphere and delicious food added to the specialness of prom night. After eating, couples took a stroll in the moonlight along the Lakefront, or went sight-seeing around the Loop.

A cool weekend with a steady drizzle ruined many peoples plans for an outing at the Dunes, so post-prom activities ranged from trekking through Old Chicago, to going to the mall or to just spending a quiet afternoon at home with a date listening to records.

Whether a memory of prom consisted of a snapshot, a formal portrait, a softly scented sachet, or a pressed corsage, couples attending the 1980 Prom savored the dance's specialness "minute by minute".

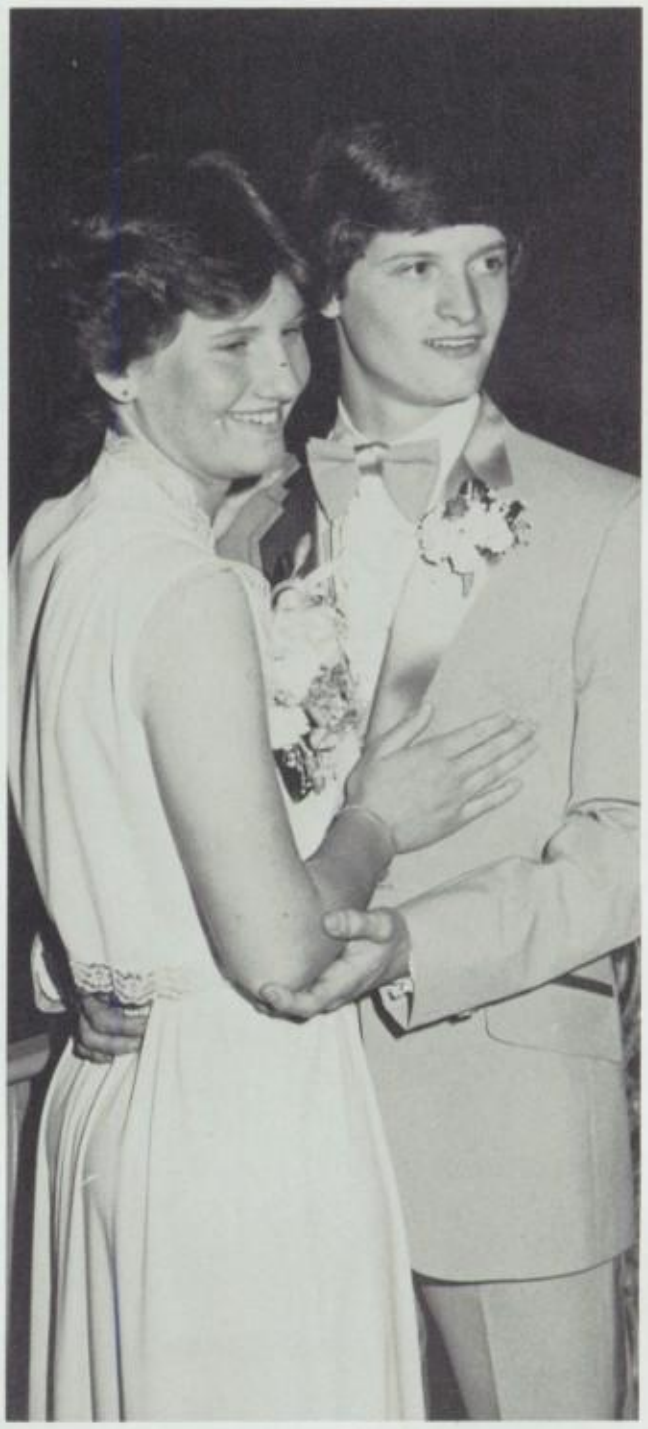
After an evening of dancing at the Marlac House, Stacy Donars and Ed Dirkus wave good-bye.

Couples enjoy slow dancing to soft music at the romantic Marlac House.

Preparing to eat the delicious hors-d'oeuvres, Lynn Stern and Dan Subaitis stop to pose for a picture.

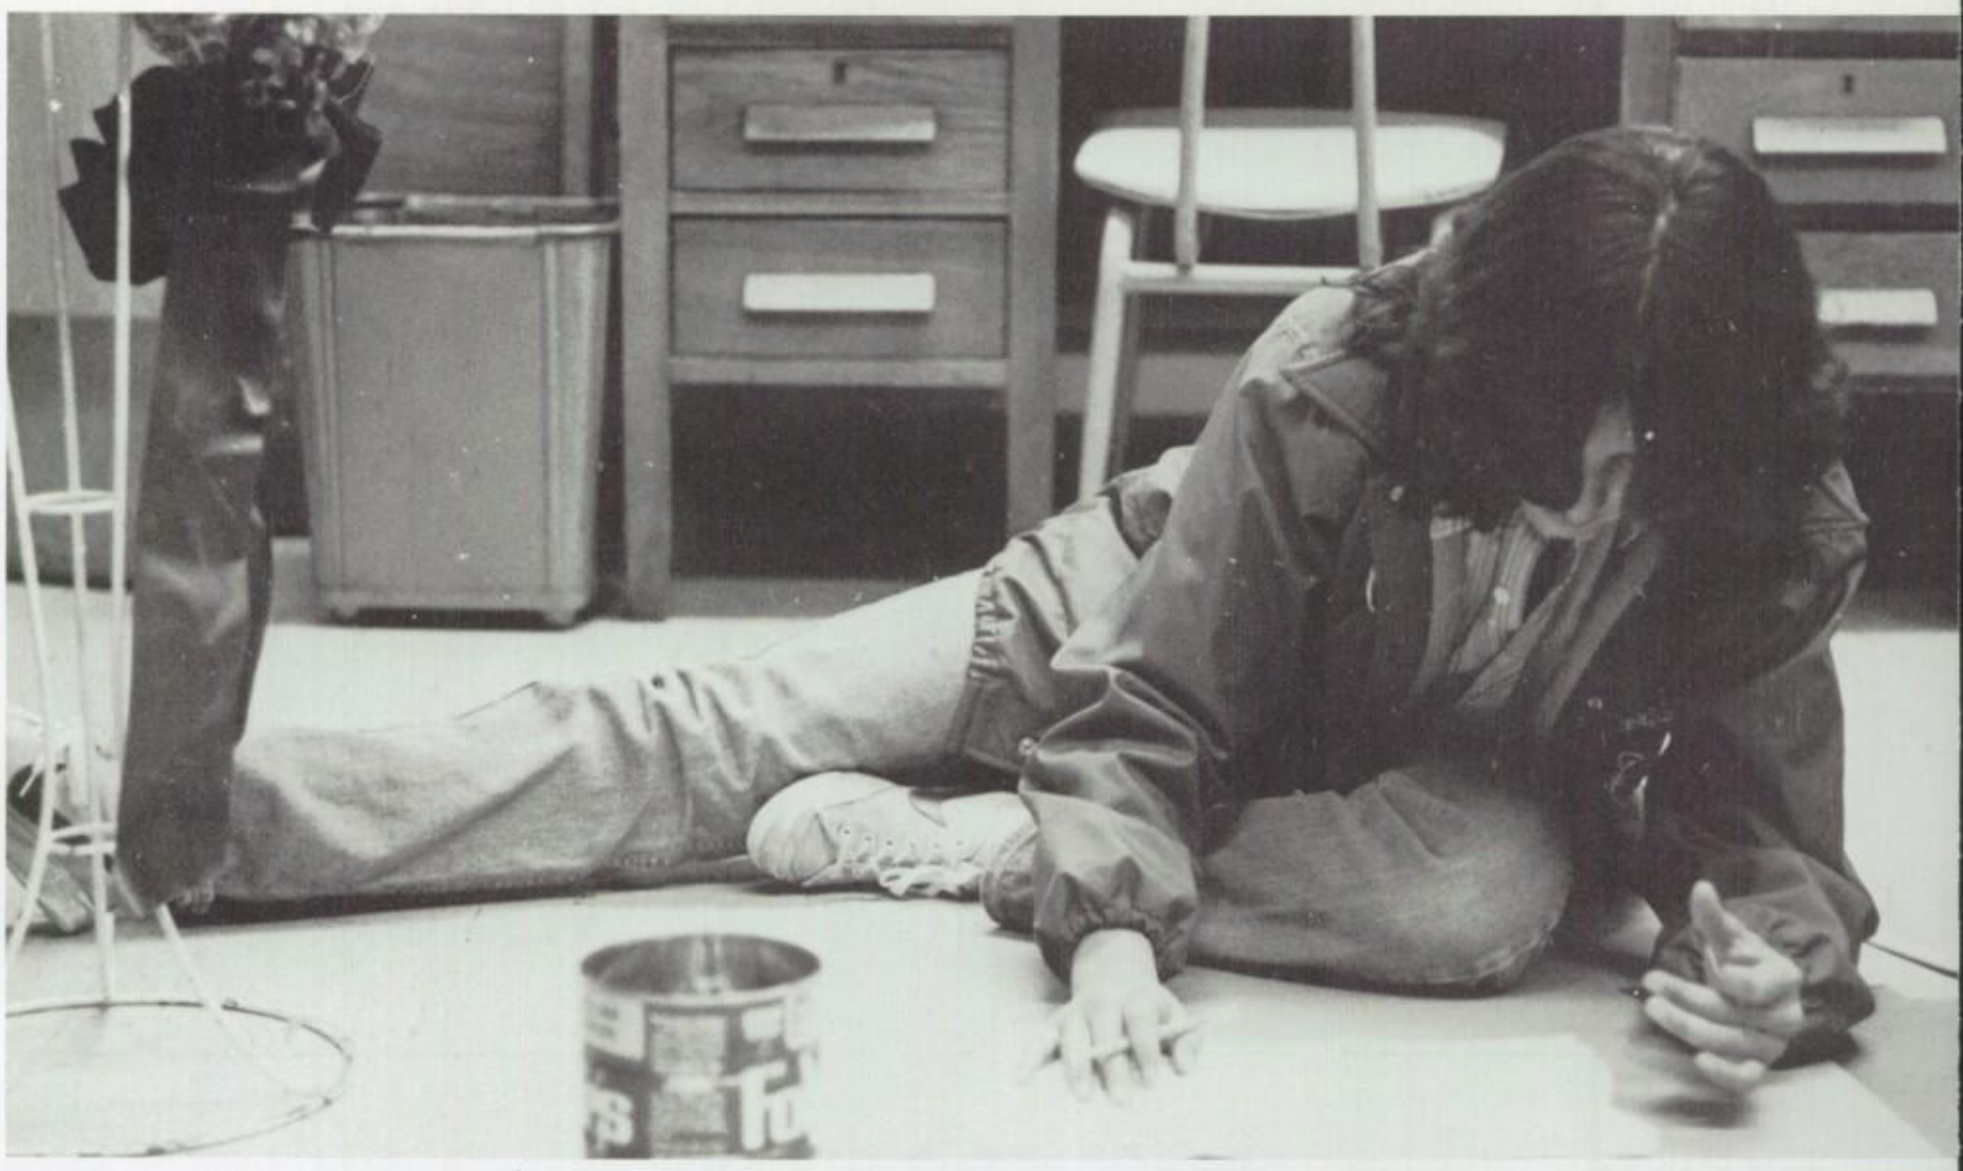
Sampling the hors-d'oeuvres, Becky Ruch and Greg Philiotis find something interesting.

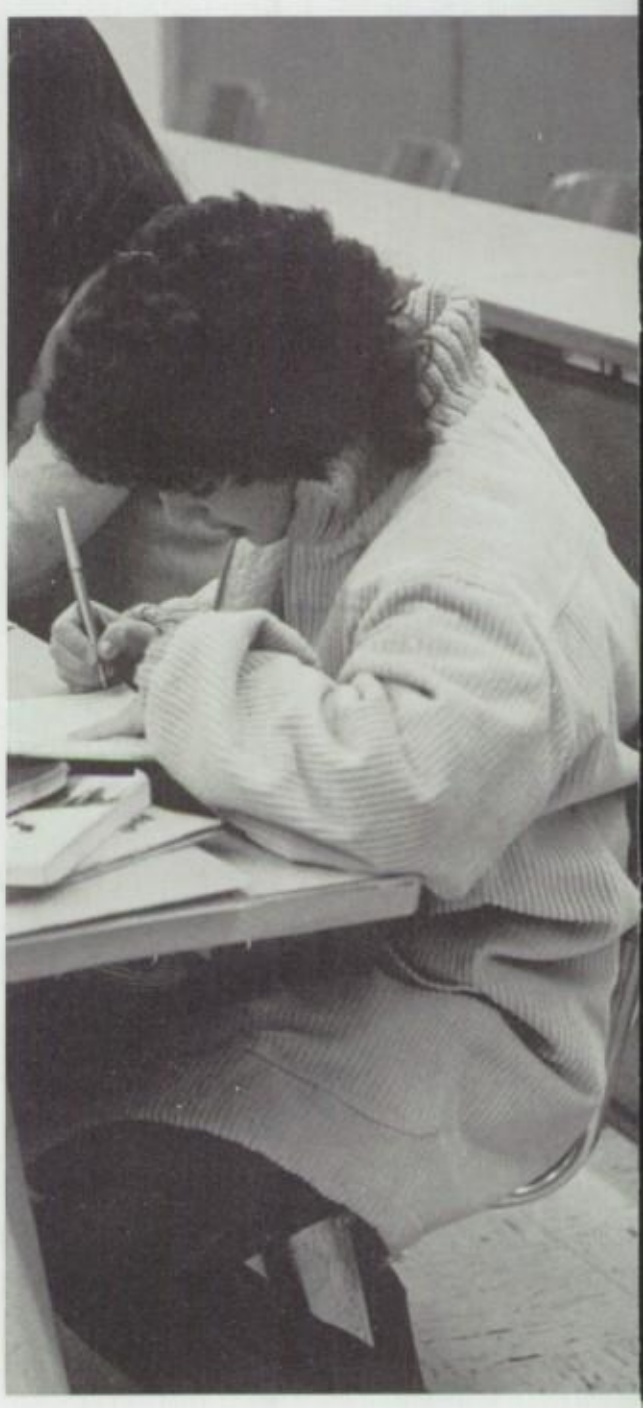
Taking a break from dancing, Bernie Lotz and his date reflect on their evening.



Nosegays, favors, and the dance program make a very lovely centerpiece.

Relaxing by their table, Andrea Marsala and her date enjoy the dance.





Making a poster, Liz Reyes helps to advertise for the Christmas dance.

Checking her records, Niki Willsey takes attendance at the beginning of the meeting.

Student Association

The R-B Student Association had a year of successful activities and projects. Even though old problems, such as student apathy and lack of funds were common, the events sponsored by the group usually ran smoothly. This was due to the organization and enthusiasm of the members and officers.

The main activity of the year was Homecoming. The Oriental theme worked well and there was a good turn-out during the week-end. In addition to running dances, S.A. added many new amendments to their constitution, ran a blood drive, and worked for various students' rights. As one S.A. representative commented, "The best thing about S.A. is that it's a chance to serve the school and have fun at the same time!"

To start off the meeting, Patti Marshall discusses old business.

Lunch at "R-B's"

As part of a special Home-Ec class, students were required to start a restaurant in which they handled everything from the cooking to the finances. The restaurant was held in the Cresent for all teachers. The students in this class divided up the work and traded jobs regularly. This way they could get experience in a wide variety of different future career opportunities.

Some of the various duties included: cooking meals, planning menus, serving the teachers, balancing the books, and of course, cleaning up afterwards. Even though it was a lot of work, most everyone in this class found it to be fun as well!

Each year, the restaurant has a theme. This year's was "Eat and Run". Waiters and waitresses dressed in jogging suits and the decorations also went along with the theme. The teacher patrons enjoyed the lively atmosphere, cheerful waiters and waitresses, and especially the delicious food.

All in all, the R-Bite restaurant was a great success for everyone involved. It was a course that would be beneficial for anyone who was interested in food services or for anyone who just likes to cook.

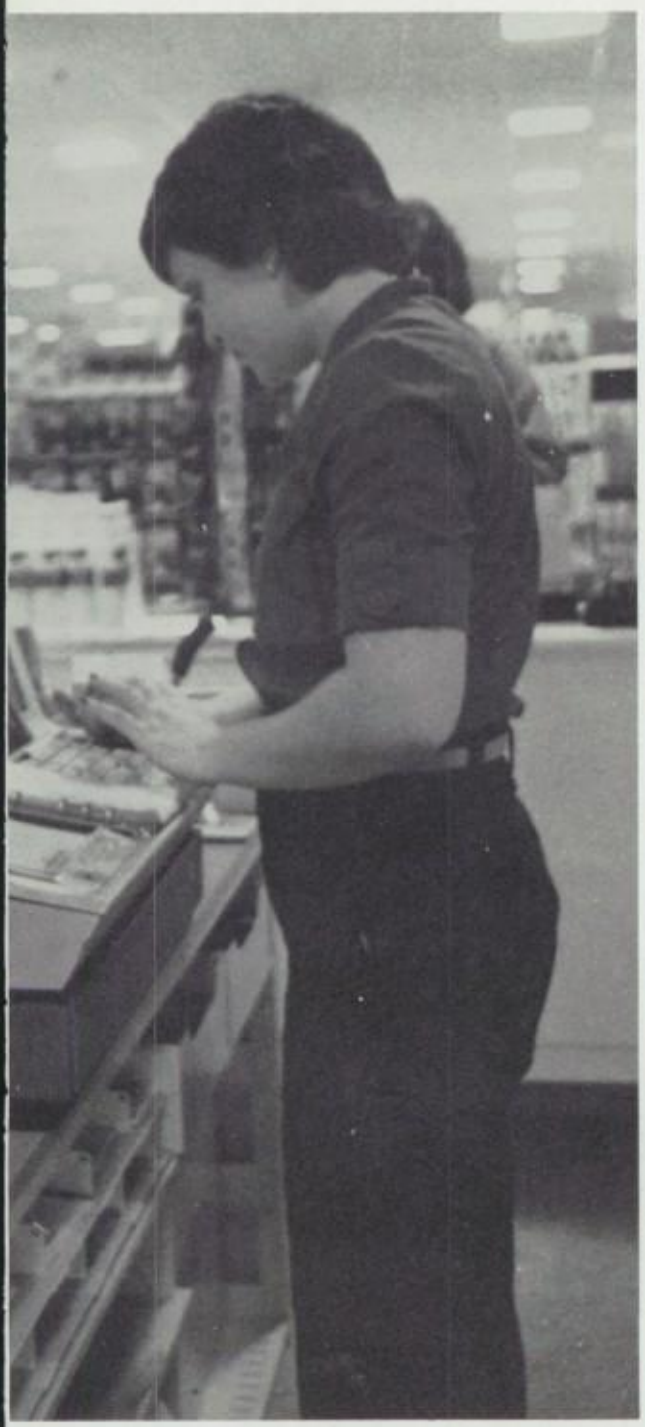
Turning hours into $$$

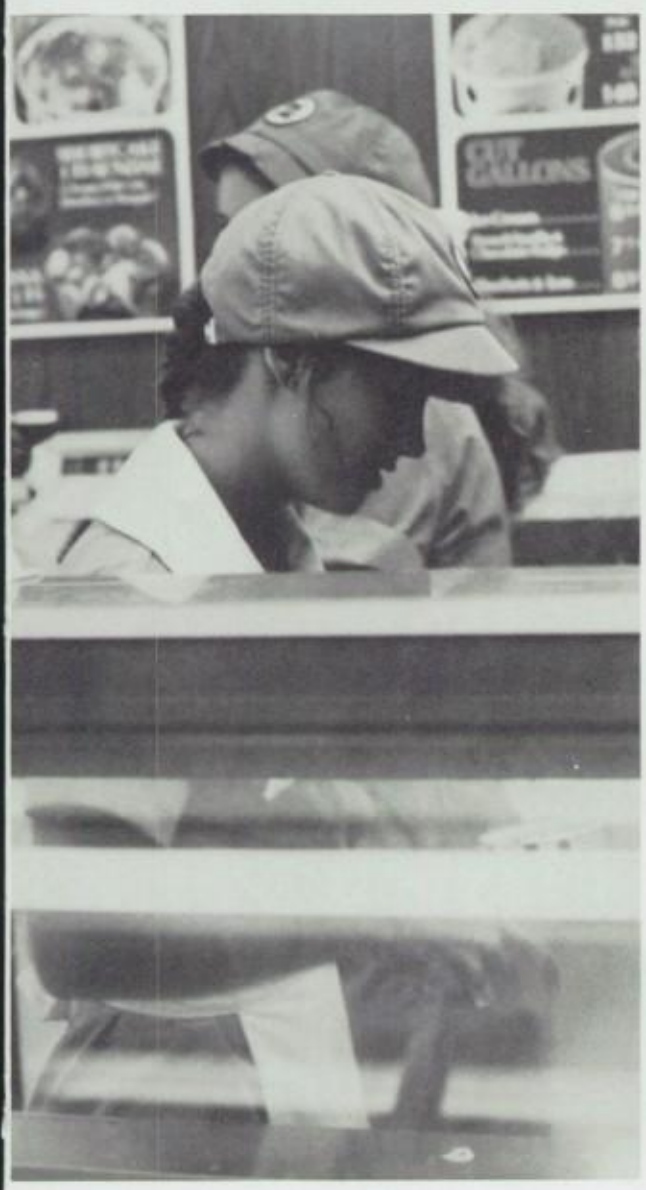


While the awesome task of keeping up with schoolwork was enough for some R-B students, others worked at various jobs after school and on weekends. While this made for a very busy schedule, many felt it was worth the money, and, in some cases, the valuable experience a good job offers.

Places of employment were very diverse. The zoo, as always, proved most popular. A relatively new "fad" in jobs this year was working at Loyola Hospital. There, students found work in food preparation, cleaning surgical instruments, and a variety of other interesting jobs. Of course, many flock to the mall for employment, as well as to area stores, restaurants and gas stations.

The reason for all this is, of course, money. But how that money was spent varied from student to student. Of course, much went for the necessities: clothes, movies, dates and partying. Other costs varied with the individual needs of the person. Senior Jim Yurik commented, "I've got to work to keep the car running, and to save up for college." Others kept their album collections up to date with frequent trips to Musicland, Sound Warehouse and other area record shops. All in all, R-Bites who work find the experience worthwhile and rewarding.

Working at Wards, Darlene Heslop rings up an order for a customer.



Using the cash register, Vicki Leadley rings up some clothing at the County Seat.

Making a sundae is one part of Jill Thompson's job at Baskin Robbin's.

Checking out the stock, Paul Windsor enjoys his job at Music Shop.

Send in the clowns

Turn-about '80, entitled "Send In the Clowns" was very successful in terms of the reactions of the people who attended the dance. Traditionally, Turn-about is sponsored by Sharclub, who once again did a fantastic job. The elaborate decorations followed a circus theme. Four lucky (?) guys were crowned "King Clown", also going along with the circus theme. All in all, the dance was something fun to do on a Saturday, thanks to Sharclub.

Flowers and favors make a lovely centerpiece for a table at the dance

Spring Fever

It happens around a certain time every year, without fail: the biting cold of Illinois winters turn into pleasant, balmy temperatures, the piles of sickening snow melt into slush and finally to mere puddles. The sky is bright blue, with scarcely any clouds and the birds are once again chirping outside early in the morn. During this wonderful time, the average R-B student experiences several symptoms: (1) he has no desire for schoolwork, (2) he tends to spend class time staring out of the window, (3) he already begins to think how he is going to spend his upcoming summer vacation. In other words, school is the last thing on the typical student's mind at this time of year. He has been struck with that yearly epidemic, spring fever.

The coming of spring brings with it lovely changes in nature and climate, but most importantly, it brings with it spring vacation. For students who have not received a break since Christmas vacation in December, the recess offers welcome relief. Students sleep late, go shopping at the mall for summertime bargains, cruise with friends, watch "Family Feud" and "Happy Days" reruns on television, and in general, enjoy themselves. Some try to get a jump on the job market by looking and applying for work during spring break; others, who are already employed take advantage of free time by working extra hours for extra cash. Those who are truly fortunate go on vacations, either to a summer home or out-of-town. Florida, with its sandy beaches and warm, sunny climate, is a popular choice for many. Often, friends will group together and make a spring trip in groups of four or five.

Spring offered a promise of better things to come for R-Bites who had grown weary of chemistry quizzes, parallelograms, and term papers. It offered an indication of something new which loomed in the not so distant future.

Taking advantage of the pleasant weather, a sophomore class prepares to play field hockey.

This year's learning

Often considered a hassle, the academic side of life at R-B sometimes became unbearable. Days full of classes like Physics, Algebra, English, etc. seemed to drag. On the other hand, class schedules did have a lighter side. Field trips and special projects made school a little more enjoyable. Most people prefer elective courses over required ones. This year, however, required classes took great strides to be more appealing to students. Unfortunately, it's hard to keep everybody satisfied all of the time. It was quite common to hear complaints about boring lectures and long assignments. Even so, most R-Bites learned to just grin and bear it.

Intense concentration is necessary when working to exact specifications in a drafting class.

Classy

Most R-Bites are exposed to a wide variety of classes. These may consist of "mind-boggling" math and science courses, English classes which give the student backgrounds of great literary works, or foreign language courses which offer a pupil insights on different and interesting cultures.

Naturally, required courses were the best known. New required courses such as two years of math and one year of science were added to the cirriculum. This played havoc with some freshmen schedules. Honors classes offered the student a specialized version of a class he or she could excel in. These special classes are more difficult so as to be more challenging for exceptionally bright students.

Classroom life could be fun, however. Games, gimmicks, and open discussions allowed students to become more involved in class. Some foreign language classes let the students create their own cultural cuisine in the school kitchens. In other classes, people were allowed to create their own tests. Many found that at times, education could be an enjoyable experience. The variety of classes and what each particular class offered gave R-B students well-rounded educations.

World Events

Many things happened this year that will have an effect on the rest of our lives. The major event of the year was the return of the hostages after their captivity in Iran for over a year. Their return was met with a lot of celebration, and R-Bites enjoyed a special day out of school in honor of the former hostages.

In national news, we had a new president inaugurated into office; Ronald Reagan. Although many feared the possibility of Reagan leading us into a war, most people adapted to our new leader.

In other news, Chicago experienced a major snowstorm in mid-February. After enjoying several months of mild weather, the sudden snow was a surprise for many.

Lastly, the world suffered the loss of a very famous and very talented performer; namely, John Lennon, his death came as a shock, especially since his murderer claimed to be one of his fans. This sad event caused a stir among the many people who believe in hand gun control.

Many events that happened this year will have far reaching consequences that will follow us for the rest of our lives.

After a victory celebration, newly elected President Reagan leaves Camp David.

444 days of captivity in Iran behind them the 52 American hostages return home.

The tragic fire at the MGM Grand Hotel was the first in a series of Las Vegas fires in hotels.

Across the world the tragic death of John Lennon was mourned.

Punk out

What do you think of Punk Rock/New Wave music?

It's alright.

Mary Gorlen '82

It's stupid.

Fred Prasil '82

I don't like it. I go for rock like Led Zepplin.

Cindy Schereck '81

I like New Wave groups like the Kings. Punk is too suicidal!

Kelli Isherwood '81

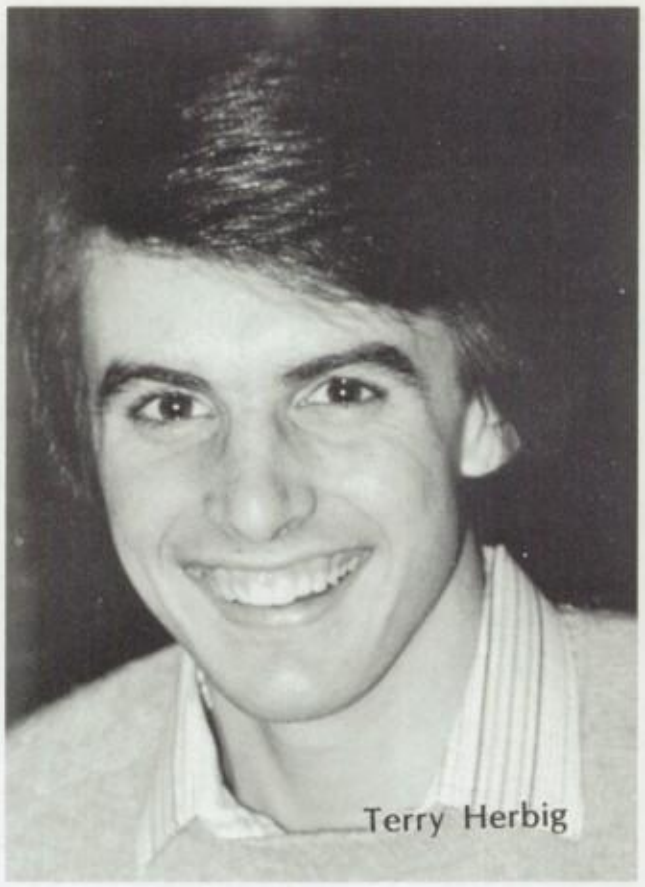
Love it!

Chris Sedlacek '82

I think New Wave is the music of the '80's. People want to hear songs, not long, dragged out guitar solos. I think it will take over heavy metal in the near future.

Steve Mendel '81

Craig Shannon



Terry Herbig

Changes

If you could change one thing about R-B, what would it be?

I'd get rid of people asking questions in the halls.

Terry Herbig '81

The losing attitude in the sports program.

Craig Shannon '81

They could improve the food in the cafeteria and control the mice in the library.

Gayle Blazejak '83

I would like to change it to an open campus. I'd rather not see the hall moniters either.

Kathy Miljfait '82

I think R-B should get more media.

Earl Higgins '81

Reagan

What do you think of Ronald Reagan becoming president?

Fine, if you want to get a draft card for a graduation present.

Brad Alexander '81

It stinks. He failed as an actor so he decided to run for president.

Laura O'Brien '82

I don't feel it's that important.

Bob Miljfait '81

The crisis in Iran

If you were president, hov would you solve the Iran crisis

I'd blow up Iran!

Bob Kapoun '8

If I were president, i wouldn't have gone on this long

Donna Castellucio '8

I would get as many countrie as possible to cut off all import that go to Iran and force then into starvation.

Caroline Pogwizd '8

I would tell them that if the didn't release our hostages withi a certain period of time, w would declare war on them.

Bob Schwarz '8

If I were president, I'd firs kidnap one Iranian student study ing here for each American hostage. Then I'd send the rest o the Iranians who aren't U.S citizens back to Iran.

Bob Dvorak '8

The best of R-B

Who do you think is the best teacher at R-B and why?

I think Mrs. Mikuska is the best teacher at R-B. She is able to make a student learn to think and use that ability to make the most of their life.

Carol Bronsteader '81

Mrs. Goldberg and Mr. Dombrowski are the best teachers because they relate to the students.

Liz Dvorak '82

Mr. Greffin, because he knows a lot and you can comprehend him.

Camille Hamot '82

Miss Lakides - She talks on your level and is aware of what's going on.

Sue Gordey '82

I like Mrs. Ports because she teaches more than just facts; she teaches practical things that you can use in the future.

Terry Schwarz '82

Fantasizing

Tomorrow you're leaving for Fantasy Island. What is your fantasy?

To live at the Playboy Club with no cares in the world and to have my own harem.

Dan Fremgen '81

My fantasy is to be a successful person in the field of dentistry and make a good living.

Sandi Santos '82

To graduate from this school!

Peggy Beaver '81

'Tis the season

What is your favorite season and why?

The fall season with its pretty colors is the best. The Cross Country team also runs.

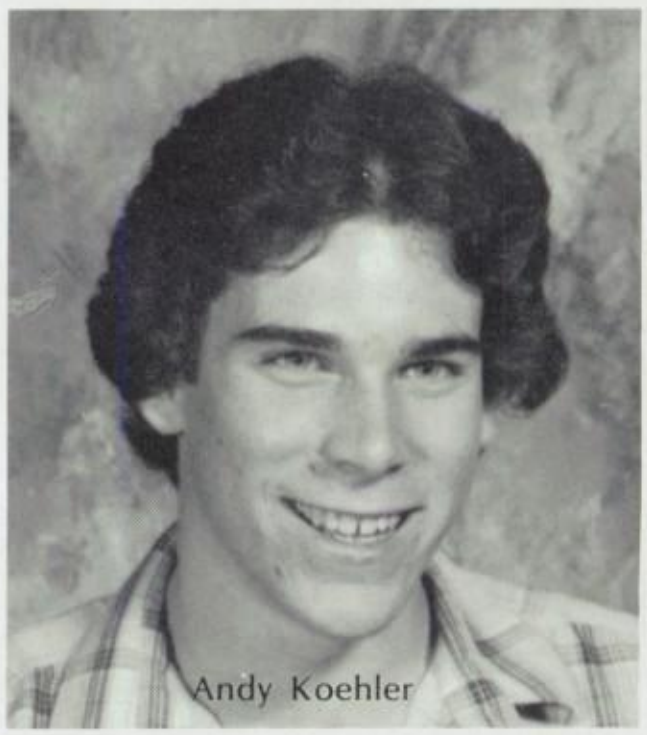
Carrie Suffern '82

Spring because everything is blooming and fresh.

Barb Knupp '81

Winter because of skiing and the season of Christmas.

Chris Hamot '81



On T.V.

In your opinion, what are the best and worst shows on T.V. and why?

The best show is "Soap" because it's the funniest show on television. "Happy Days" is the worst show because it has a dumb plot.

Andy Koehler '82

My favorite show is "Trapper John M.D." because Gonzo is cute. The worst show is "Fantasy Island" because it's so unrealistic.

Jean Dvorak '84

The best show is Laverne & Shirley because it's unique. The worst is "Dukes of Hazzard".

Jim Triner '83

Feelings

Gathered together, Spanish and German Clubbers try to keep warm.

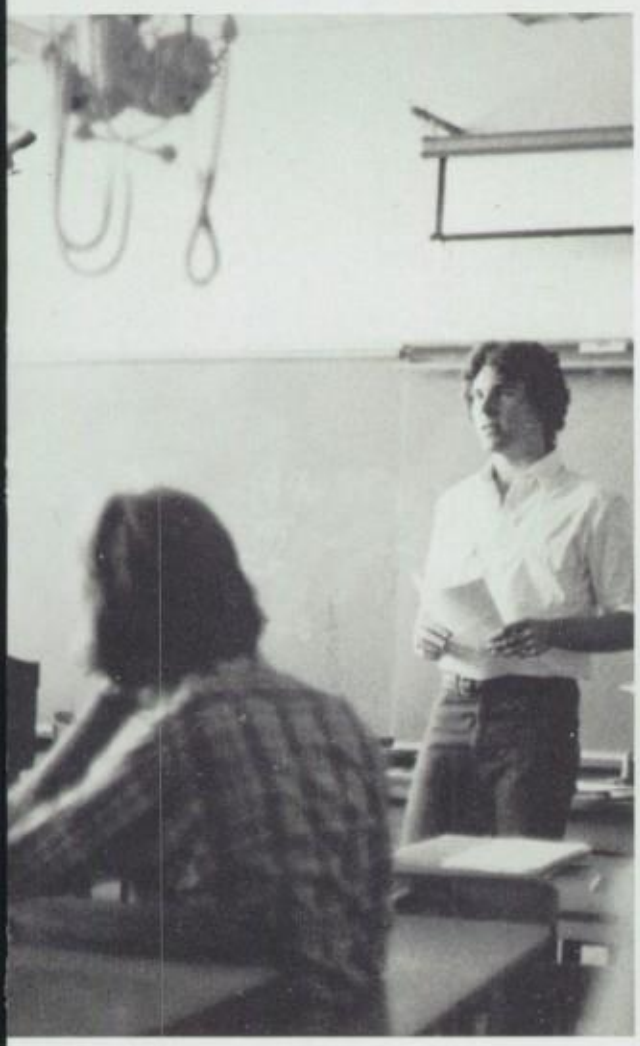
Checking out the horses, John Marhoul and Fred Prasil wait to go on a sleigh ride.

Posing with their Homecoming trophy, Angel Matusak, Andy Koehler, and Mark Tyle smile happily.

Culture Clubs

Foreign language clubs offered a unique opportunity to learn more about the culture of a particular group. An R-B student had the choice of German Club, Spanish Club, Russian Club, or French Club. Each of these organizations provided an enjoyable experience that was educational as well. Although all of these clubs had basically the same objectives, each varied in their activities. For instance, German Club stressed learning ethnic songs and dances and performing them for people in nursing homes, shopping centers, etc. Russian Club and Spanish Club emphasized learning and practicing the customs and behavior of their group. French Club was more interested in the cuisinery aspects of French culture. Regardless of which club(s) a person is in, foreign language clubbers agree that their organization is accenting their educations while being a lot of fun!

Enjoying herself, Miss Krentz has a good laugh during the sleigh ride.



Smiling warmly, three girls find a new friend.

Headlines & Deadlines

Late after school, the buzz of busy activity would fill the English hall. Frantic Rouser-ites and Clarion staffers could be seen rushing around, struggling to get the last bit of work done to meet the deadline. Somehow, no matter how much planning was done, there always was that last-minute effort when most of the work was done.

The Clarion, coming out every other week, had to plan early, get out assignments quickly, and nag until the work got done. The newspaper was really successful, providing R-B students with an informative view of our school.

This year the name Rouser was synonomous with confusion. Fortunately, the yearbook only comes out once a year. However, monthly deadlines also were a hassle. Somehow, the work got done and the deadlines were always met, recording R-B for the generations to come.

Dateline: R-B

Lights, camera, action! With a dedicated staff of budding journalists, camera technicians, staff writers, and audio personnel, Dateline: R-B swept into its fifth season. A milestone achieved for the media news branch was the acquisition of a newly remodeled color television studio. Construction of the studio began over the summer and continued until early November.

For their first shows, much footage was shot outside of R-B, providing diversity in addition to regular high school news. Once the studio was completed, the "Date-line" staff made full use of its possibilities, expanding their creativity.

In addition, the studio was also used for mass media projects, including the cable televised series of programs which featured several R-B students as well as local television personality Lee Phillips, who was impressed with R-B's studio and crew personnel. Through their work with "Dateline: R-B", students gained valuable insight and experiences which hopefully will aid them in their future media careers.

Dr. Jekyl Mr. Hyde

At 3:05 on Fridays (sometimes Thursdays) a strange transformation comes over the typical R-B student. As soon as the main door is passed through on the way out, the rigors of Physics, Calculus and Today's Foods endured during the last five days are soon forgotten. Instead of being involved with these subjects, the student instead plans out his activities for the weekend. These activities may include working, partying or just bumming around. All too soon however, these precious two days are over and the student must make the difficult transformation to get ready to go back to school.

Many upperclassmen take advantage of their free time on weekends to attend a rowdie basketball game.

IN HARMONY

The tremulous voices of possible future Luciano Pavarottis and Renata Scottos swelled through the vocal music room and wafted, through closed doors, to the main hall, where the persistent sounds of vocal scales. Whether it was the Freshman Chorus working on holding a voice part; Girls' Chorale practicing on voice blending; Choir developing section balance; or R-B Singers perfecting their voices, the vocal music department enhanced a student's cultural background by teaching music appreciation.

In addition, there was also the swing choir, called Fantasia. Fantasia members strove to give their audiences the effect of total song and dance. Student choreographers arranged versatile and appealing dances to go along with the group's lively songs.

Besides giving several vocal concerts a year, vocal music students found time to release their own Christmas album, entitled A Holy Night. Also, along with selling candles to raise money for new choral uniforms, and participating in the annual fruit sale, students broadened their musical horizons by taking a field trip to the Lyric Opera House downtown to see a production of "Don Giovanni". As senior Dale Fahnstrom stated, "Being in vocal music definitely has been rewarding. It's helped me to appreciate all forms of music!"

Mr. Larson, the vocal music director, introduces the next song.

Practicing together, jazz band members go over a song.

Perfecting their part, the trumpet section goes through some music.

Concentrating, Ed Hovorka plays his saxophone to accent the rest of the band.

Jazz It Up

The R-B Jazz Band, consisting of Varsity band members who had special talent and interest in jazz music, demonstrated school spirit in their own unique way. In addition to concerts, the Jazz Band played during assemblies and often at sports events. With instruments ranging from saxophones to synthesizers, the band was welcome where ever they played.

Aside from talent, the main qualification for being in the Jazz Band was dedication. This is because members are expected to participate in the practices and performances of the Varsity band in addition to their hectic Jazz Band schedules. However, their dedication was well rewarded by the praise and recognition they received throughout the year, especially during the winter trip to Florida. There the band took second place awards for the jazz section.

Unfortunately, many talented musicians are graduating this year. Even so, the R-B Jazz Band should enjoy many more years of success as a group and their future looks promising.

Working on a new piece, Marty DeLeonardis keeps an eye on his music.

Banded together

The Riverside-Brookfield Royal Brigade Band, under the direction of Mr. Iovenelli, enjoyed yet another successful year in music. The band was in competitions in Franklin Park and Wheeling, among others. They placed high in almost all competitions. Drum major Mark Kory and majorette Lori Ferrier were outstanding leaders. The band performed, to the audience's delight, at many football games.

This year, members of the band performed at halftime during the Peach Bowl game. This was the major event of the year. It is considered quite an honor to be asked to perform at that event; however, it was also expensive. In order to raise money for this goal, members were required to sell fruit, candy, tags on tag day, etc.

All in all, band members found that they had an enjoyable year performing their music.

Keeping the band in step, the drum section has to concentrate on timing.

Glitter and Style

There to accompany the Band with color and flair were the R-B twirlettes and the color guard. Both performed during the half-time show at home football games. The color guard also presented a pre-game display of the flag during the National Anthem.

Both groups went along with the rest of the Band to Florida and Georgia over the Christmas holidays for the Peach Bowl game, in which they performed at half-time. The twirlettes and color guard did a fine job of representing R-B at this prestigious event.

The twirlettes, with Caroline Baker as captain and the color guard, led by Karen Ewert, added a touch of glitter and style to the Band's performances.

Pup-ettes in Motion

The R-B Pup-ettes added a touch of class to the fall assembly with their rendition of the Blues Brothers' "Shake Your Tailfeather". The group got the Homecoming crowd in an Oriental spirit with their "Turning Japanese" routine. Trading in their poms for fans, gloves, hats, and various other props, the Pup-ettes' routines were colorful, exciting events.

The group practiced long and hard to perfect their routines. As always, they participated in the many Band activities, from selling candy to performing in the halftime shows. All in all, the blue and white pom-pons are definitely a part of the Bulldog spirit.

Athletic Clubs

What do Orchesis, Sabrina and Ski Club have in common? Not much, except that all three are interesting organizations. Orchesis is a dance club and their major activity was their show, which took place in the spring. Orchesis and Sabrina take turns each year for their shows. Since Orchesis had a show this year, Sabrina didn't have one. However, Sabrina members kept busy by recruiting new members. Ski Club also had a busy year. The skiers went on many trips, including one to Wilmont.

Have you thanked an aide today?

Often overworked and underrated, the aides help keep R-B running smoothly. Aides can be found in virtually every department of the school, including the personnel, guidance, and nurse's offices, the A-V center, and the library. The jobs aides do are very diversified. Personnel and guidance aides deliver passes, answer phones, and do other general office work. Nurse's aides fill out forms and work with the nurse. Delivering audio-visual equipment and keeping it in good working order is the job of the A-V aides. Aides in the library return books to the shelves, repair worn out bindings, and send out overdue notices.

This seems like a lot of work. An obvious question is why do people become aides? Ask any good aide and he or she will tell you that it's a fun way to make new friends while helping out the school.

This year's athletics

Sports make up a large part of our lives. Whether it be in P.E. or on an athletic team, sports are necessary to keep in shape. A little athletic activity during gym is a nice change from all the intellectual activity of the rest of the day. Being on a team can be enjoyable and satisfying as well. Even though some teams finish their seasons with less than spectacular records, the feeling of pride and accomplishment is still there. Practices may be long and painful, but in the end R-B athletes have strong bodies, disciplined minds, and new friends to show for it.

The Brains Behind the Brawn

Behind every team there was always a coach, providing guidance and moral support for the players. Their duties included: supervising practices, planning strategies, and in general, watching out for their athletes. Being a coach involved a lot of dedication and hard work. Most coaches, however, felt it was well worth the effort. Coaching was basically another chance for R-B teachers and students to learn from each other by spending time together.

Sweating It Out

No matter what sport a person is involved in at R-B, he or she will find that it takes hard work, much dedication, and a lot of sweat. All of this stress and strain may seem like an extreme amount of effort to put into one activity, but the athletes involved are paid back by the satisfaction of a job well done. And with this satisfaction comes sweat. Whether it is the grueling summer football practices, the painful double workouts of the cross country team, or the long sessions of basketball drills, the sweat of achievement is there.

Hurrah!

Characterized by bright smiles and loud voices, the cheerleaders were always there, encouraging athletes and promoting school spirit. The cheerleaders can be separated into five specific groups; divided according to sports and Varsity or Junior Varsity level.

Once again this year, R-Bites were fortunate to have a special attraction at the Basketball games at the end of the winter season. The special event was the return of the co-ed cheerleading squad. This unique squad featured gymnastics and interesting formations during time-outs and at half time. The co-ed cheerleaders were very popular with the Basketball crowd and are on their way to becoming an R-B tradition.

Maybe next year . . .

The R-B varsity football season came to a close with the team's win-loss record being 1 and 7. Much effort was exhibited by the team before and during the season, however. Beginning in July, players endured long, strenuous practice sessions. A contributing factor to the team's problems was the numerous injuries. Fortunately, there seems to be nowhere but up to go for the team, and it looks as if they will do just that, with many promising players, including quarterback John Mathis and halfback Dave Vohaska, along with defensive tackle Pete Baldacci.

The sophomore team did not fare much better than the Varsity, finishing the season with a win-loss record of 1 and 7. According to Coach Ware, the team was hampered by their "inconsistent offense. Turnovers proved detrimental also." On the other hand, the team had polished skills in both throwing and receiving the ball. Guy Manella, Eric Kracht, and Tom Wilp were cited as some of the best offensive players. Jeff Bartz, and Steve and Eric Duve were outstanding defensive players. The sophs were also an injury laden team. Starting the season with 28 boys and ending with 17, this was a major problem. In order to be an asset to next year's varsity, the sophomores will have to polish up their offensive skills, and continue to do well in throwing, receiving, and defense.

The freshmen team produced the most successful R-B record, with the "A" team finishing with a record of 2 and 6, and the "C" team turning in a record of 2 and 0. Rather than a "B" team, this year it was called the "C" team because as Coach Zeman reasoned, "This was a real bad year for money, so we didn't have a "B" team." Having excellent potential and playing skills, the frosh team should prove to be an asset to the R-B football program in years to come.

Speeding

The Girls' Cross Country Team, coached by Miss Hardy, enjoyed a fairly successful season. The team is only two years old, but already it is doing relatively well in conference, thanks to a lot of hard work on the part of the enthusiastic runners. Consisting mostly of sophomores, the future outlook is promising because next year they'll have plenty of experience, which is essential for a winning season. "The practices were long and hard, but it was worth it!" commented one team member. The team had a lot of spirit, even though it was quite small, (11 members). Hopefully, with the returning athletes plus some new members, the team will be even better next year.

Running hard, Dan Keen wins yet another race.

The Run Around

The 1979 Boys' Cross Country Team finished the season with a 6 win, 2 loss conference record and a 85% winning overall record. This continues the winning tradition of the R-B cross country team. Led by outstanding senior athletes Dan Keen, Mike Schaffer, Mike Williams, John Wachter and Pete Pappas, the team had an outstanding season. Coach Jirkovsky was very proud of the team's accomplishments and regrets the loss of so many fine senior athletes. Next year still looks good however, due to the return of many talented underclassmen Running up hill is difficult, but Mark Binder still manages to stay ahead.

Bumpers!

The Girls' Varsity Volleyball team ended the season with a record of 8 wins and 5 losses. Led by Coach Kreiger and outstanding players, including Terri Malcak, Laurie Poremba, and Donna Forney, the team performed well both in conference and out of conference. The team should remain strong next year as well, due to the fact that many talented juniors will be returning to the team.

The Junior Varsity team finished out their season with a 14 win, 2 loss record. Playing well on both offense and defense, the team should be an asset to next year's varsity.

The freshmen team, although only a few years old, had a win loss record of 8 and 4. The team's major strong point was their unity; their ability to play well as a team. In the up-coming years, the returning members will help lead the varsity team to success.

The 1980 Boys' Varsity Golf team finished out their season with a 4 win, 7 loss record, in conference. They also came in 6th place in districts. Led by Coach Waddington and star golfers Brad Alexander, Dave Wilner, and Wayne Peluso, the team was relatively successful as compared with other years.

The Junior- Varsity team had a record of 0 wins, 8 losses in conference and 1 win, 9 losses overall. Although the team had many promising golfers, the small size of the team prevented them from doing well in conference. In the years to come, the skill and enthusiasm of the members of this team should be a great asset to the varsity team.

Keeping his eye on the ball, Wayne Peluso completes the follow-through of his swing.

Concentrating on form, Dave Wilner practices his driving technique.

The 1979 girls' Varsity Badminton Team finished out their season with a 2 win, 5 loss conference record and a 5 and 13 overall record. The team had a fairly strong season, led by team captain Mary Beth Maranich and Coach Wilkens.

The team hosted a tournament here at R-B, in which they scored 8½ points for a first place finish. Other highlights of the season were victories over Proviso West and Proviso East.

With many new players, the team's major problem was lack of experience. Next year, however, the team should be greatly improved with many returning players. Also, many of the sophomores from this year's junior-varsity team will be moving up into varsity level.

The team also competed in a West Suburban Conference meet, placing sixth. Then they moved on to the IHSA Districts, placing fifth.

On the other hand, the J-V badminton team had a record of 1 win, 5 losses in conference and 2 and 5 overall. According to Coach Wilkens, the team has a lot of potential and improved greatly between the beginning and the end of the season. Two of the team's outstanding players were Jill Thompson and Chris Freigo. This year's J-V team should prove to be a great benefit to the varsity team in the future.

Between work outs in the weight room, and hours of grueling after school practices, the basketball teams were able to greatly improve their game. After a slow start they were able to pull it together to have a relatively successful season.

On the varsity team, seniors Craig Shannon and Jim Ware proved to be outstanding players. While juniors Keith Vaux and John Mathis showed great promise for next year. Of their team, Coach Ware and Coach Cada felt the team managed to maintain a good competitive spirit throughout the season. The team finished the season with a record of 3 wins and 15 losses.

The sophomore team finished up the season with a record of 0 wins 17 losses. Led by a new coach, Coach Wittkamper, they showed great improvement in good execution of rebounds and team plays. All in all several sophomore players should be good enough to place on the varsity squad.

A young Freshman team lead by Coach McGuire, shows great potential for the coming years. Outstanding players such as Dave Schabinger should do well in coming years. The ended their season with wins and losses.

The girls varsity basketball team also had a successful season. Team members trained, maintained a determined attitude, and worked very well together. Valuable players like Laura Slanec and Pam Masek helped the team in it's efforts. The girls rounded out the season with a record of wins and losses.

The R-B Wrestling team finished out their season with an exceptional record of wins and losses. Coach Zeman, who had expected such a performance this year was, to say the least, very pleased. The individual standouts included: Milan Marsenic, Dan Verr, and Dave Vohaska. Vince Verr, Vance Nono and Jack Paloucek were also consistent winners.

The team consisted of a lot of Juniors and underclassmen, as well as the outstanding senior athletes. Therefore, the future outlook for the team is promising.

Thanks to hard work, determination, and talented athletes, the R-B grapplers have remained the "winningest" team in R-B history. All of the R-B wrestlers had a strong sence of dedication, which was the main reason for their success as a team. Along with attending long, strenuous practices, many wrestlers were expected to gain or lose weight in order to fit into the weight class where they were most needed. Although gaining ten pounds or so could be quite fun, losing that same weight could be difficult.

It was a good year for the J-V team as well. They finished with a 7 and 7 record. The team's major strong point was their enthusiasm, which led them to many victories.

Aside from being difficult and tiring sport, most wrestlers would agree that it was a rewarding experience, none the less.

The R-B Varsity Swim Team enjoyed a reasonably successful season with a win loss record of 7 and 3. The season started out incredibly well as the team remained undefeated up until the Friday right before Christmas vacation when the Bullfrogs suffered a defeat at the hands of Oak Park-River Forest. Unfortunately, the team lost its chance for revenge, losing to OPRF a second time in the 27th annual R-B Swimming Invitational, the oldest invite in Illinois.

A strong point of the team was the medley relay team, consisting of Dave Cihla, Ed Zielinski, Mark Grills and Tony Palese. Other outstanding swimmers included Leif Johnson and John Triner, both specializing in the freestyle. Coach Brown was very pleased with their performances, both as a team and individually.

The Frosh & Soph Team, under the guidance of Coach Koch-Weser also had a promising season with a record of 6 wins and 4 losses. Notable swimmers included: Eric and Steve Duve, Eric DeTorrice and Tim Hutchinson. The team looked especially strong in the medley and freestyle relays.

Members of the Varsity and J-V teams agreed that although the work-outs seemed endless and the practices in the early hours of the morning were exhausting, being a part of the swim team was still a very rewarding experience.

The girls swim team, under the watchful guidance of Coach Mac Murray, swam their way to a good season. The team trained after school and really pulled together. Senior Amy Downing had an incredibly outstanding season and was named one of the best divers in the state. Other exceptional swimmers were Betsy Frampton and Pat Valvoda. Coach McMurray felt this year's team was well motivated and had an equal balance of ability. Practically every athlete raised her level of skill. While girls specialized in one or two events such as the back stroke, breast stroke, or sprint; there were many fine all arounders who were quite versatile.

The team really got it together and finished up their season with 3 wins and 6 losses.

Flippin' Out!

The Girls' Varsity Gymnastics team finished out a promising season with a 1 win, 7 loss record. The team had a good season due to the fact that the girls were both enthusiastic and talented. However, long strenuous practices helped as well.

The team was strongest on the beam and the uneven parallel bars. Outstanding athletes included Jacqui Polz and Claudia Adams, both juniors. Being such a young team, the future for them looks very good.

The Junior Varsity team completed their season with a win loss record. The girls worked very hard and showed a lot of spirit. Miss Breslin, the coach has great expectations for these girls in the years to come.

The team at both Varsity and Junior Varsity levels practiced daily after school. Practices included working out in the gymnastics room and running through the halls to improve endurance. After a long season of hard work, the girls could look back with satisfaction on this year's accomplishments.

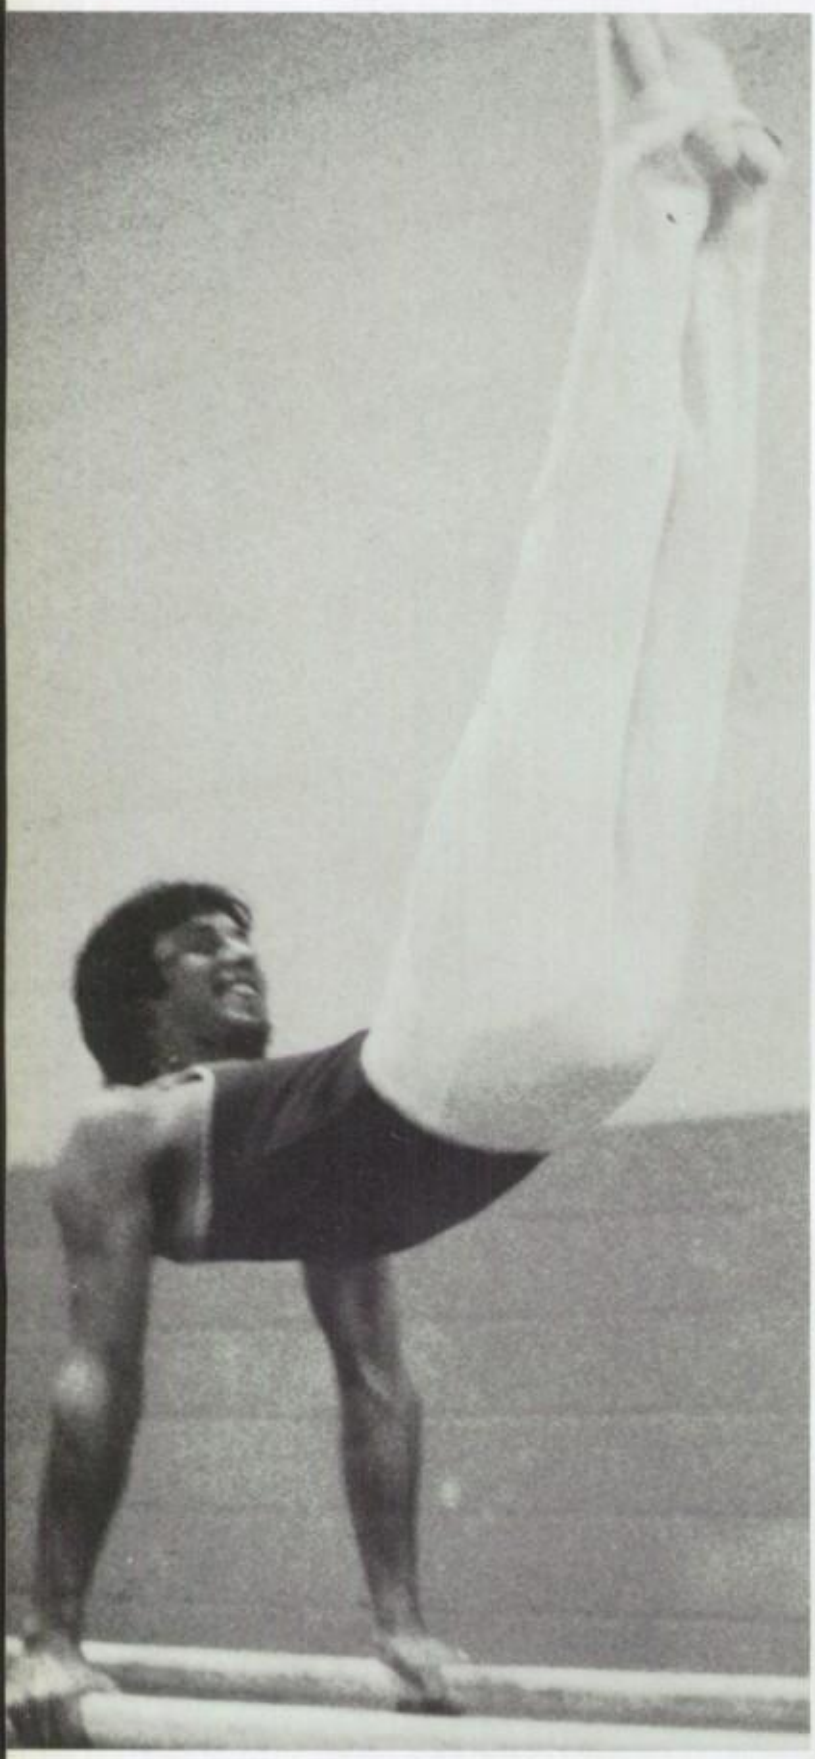
Skill and control

The Boys' Gymnastics team has lots of enthusiasm for next year after finishing the 1980 season with a less than mediocre record. The Varsity team did fairly better than the Sophomore team, sporting a 6-7 record at the end of the season. The Sophs finished out with a 1-12 record.

The team did have advantages, with many outstanding individuals competing for R-B. Bob Mauro and John Sensor were two outstanding all-around gymnasts on the Varsity team, and Mike Walsh excelled at free exercise and vaulting. The Sophomores had t talents of Jim Tolios, a great all-arou gymnast.

On the other hand, there rea weren't enough members as compar to other teams in the conference. Coa Ondrus stated, "The team has too f members, but we still do fairly well conference".

In spite of all this, Coach Ondr believes that the 1981 season should good, and that R-B will probably se several Varsity members to state.



Using his powerful arms, Kurt Sensor executes a difficult stunt on the bars.

Sports at R-B

Sports at R-B is an important part of most of our lives. Whether a person is on one of the many teams, gets exercise through individual sports, or just participates in P.E. class, athletics finds its way into the daily routine. The sports program at R-B has always been excellent and this encourages many to get involved. Being a part of a team is an experience that is remembered over the years. P.E. class is a refreshing break from sitting in a class room. Physical activities offer many benefits, and for whatever reasons R-Bites participate in sports, it is obvious that the winning tradition of R-B shall always continue.

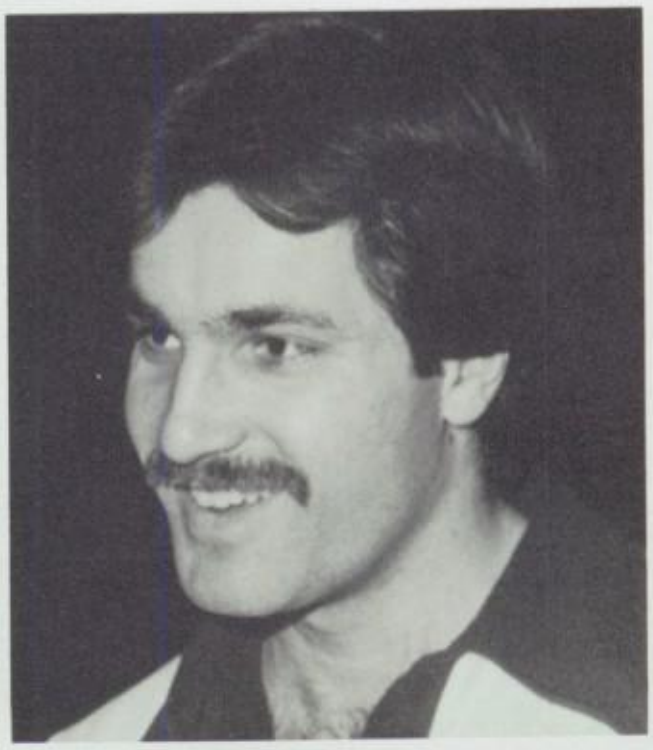
Demonstrating awesome arm strength, a swimmer swims down the lane.

Nearly knee deep in the sand, Patty West completes a broad jump.

In mid-air, John Senser demonstrates a perfect back flip.

Watching the birdie, Mary Beth Maranich serves it over the net.

Happy with the team's performance, Coach Wittkamper smiles.



Smiling cheerfully, Kim Barcik cheers on the sophomore basketball players.

Trying for distance, number 66 prepares to hurl the shot put.

Springing off the board, Mike Walsh does a sommersault dive.

Whipping the ball to the batter, Laura Scheman strikes out yet another player.

Watching the game closely, Coach Mazzarella gives a signal to one of his runners.

With a terrific effort, Lisa Olisar hits the ball.

Girls Softball

The Girls' Softball Team had a relatively successful season, finishing with 9 wins and 7 losses. Under the guidance of Coach Steve Mazzerella, the team excelled in hitting and fielding. Because of the intentionally small size of the team, the girls learned to work well together as a team.

Being a part of the team meant a lot of hard work. A typical practice consisted of drill, sprints, long distance running, and working out in the weight room. The future outlook for the team is promising, since many players will be returning for another season.

Running for a fly ball, the first baseman hopes to catch it and get the batter out.

The Hitmen

"It's something enjoyable to do with your friends after school," stated right-fielder Terry Herbig, summing up his reasons for participating on the 1980 Varsity Baseball Team. While being on the team may have been enjoyable, it also constituted a lot of hard work.

The team practiced two hours daily, using the pitching machine and weight room. The team also had to maintain the field by filling holes, removing water from the field, raking the infield, and cutting the grass.

The team had a conference record of 5 and 11, which placed them seventh in the standings. Seniors Tom Fischer and Dave Zalig were selected for the WSC All-Conference team, and Fischer also was honored as the team's Most Valuable Player.

Coached by Mr. Glawe, the team's strong points were the pitching and hitting of Tom Fischer, and the pitching of Dave Zalig and Jim Ware. As a weak point, poor defense was a problem.

The sophomore team finished with a win-loss record of 3 and 13 which made them ninth in conference standings. Outstanding players were Matt Phillips, who hit .361 for the season, and Joe Pettrone, a promising pitcher. Sophomore Coach Ware surmised that, although, the team's strongest point was their good playing attitude, they still had to improve their basic skills.

Hopefully, the returning veteran players and new talents, with additional training and coaching, will contribute to a more successful 1981 season for both Varsity and J-V teams.

Concentrating on the plate, Tim Zalig prepares to pitch into the strike zone.

Still watching the plate, Tom Fischer is pictured right after releasing the ball.

Taking a powerful swing, Jimmy Ware hopes to score a run for the team.

Girls' Tennis

The Girls' Varsity Tennis team finished out their season with an overall record of 5 wins and 8 losses. Coached by Mr. Enge, the team worked very hard and therefore did reasonably well in conference. Outstanding athletes included Senior Pat Butkiewitz and Junior Corine Shuflit. In general, the team's strongest point was the fact that they played well in conference. Outstanding athletes included Senior Pat Butkiewitz and Junior Corine Shuflit. In general, the team's strongest point was the fact that they played well both individually and as a team.

The Junior-Varsity Girls' team, coached by Mr. Lehotsky, ended their season with a 5 win, 8 loss overall record. Both teams practiced daily in order to keep in shape for their meets and tournaments. The girls' team did an exceptional job of representing R-B.

Tennis Anyone?

The 1979 Varsity Boys' Tennis Team finished the season with a record of 3 wins, 5 losses in conference, and 9 wins, 7 losses overall. The team was strong this year thanks to a lot of effort and determination on the part of the team. The team was led by Coach Enge and outstanding athletes such as Jim Testé and Scott Johnson. The future for the team also looks very good. Many from the Junior-Varsity team will be moving up, so that next year's team will have a lot of valuable experience.

Making Tracks

The R-B track teams, (Boys' Varsity, Boys' Sophomore, and Girls'), all did a fantastic job of representing our school in conference this year. Some of the highlights of each team's seasons are as follows.

The Boys' Varsity Team took first place in the Bolingbrook relays and came in a close second in our own Bulldog relays. The team also sent star athlete Tom Baugh to the IHSA State meet where he took sixth place in the Shot Put.

The Sophomores' best effort was their win over both East Leyden and Morton East on April 29th, '80. The team went in to the meet as the underdogs but went out as the victors. The team also placed eighth in conference.

The Girls' Track Team did well in the Bolingbrook relays, also placing first. Other achievements worth noting were the April 15th win over St. Ignatius and the team's admirable performance at Districts.

Each of the three track teams put a lot of effort into doing the very best job that they could. R-Bites should be proud of the school spirit demonstrated by the many members of these teams.

P eople

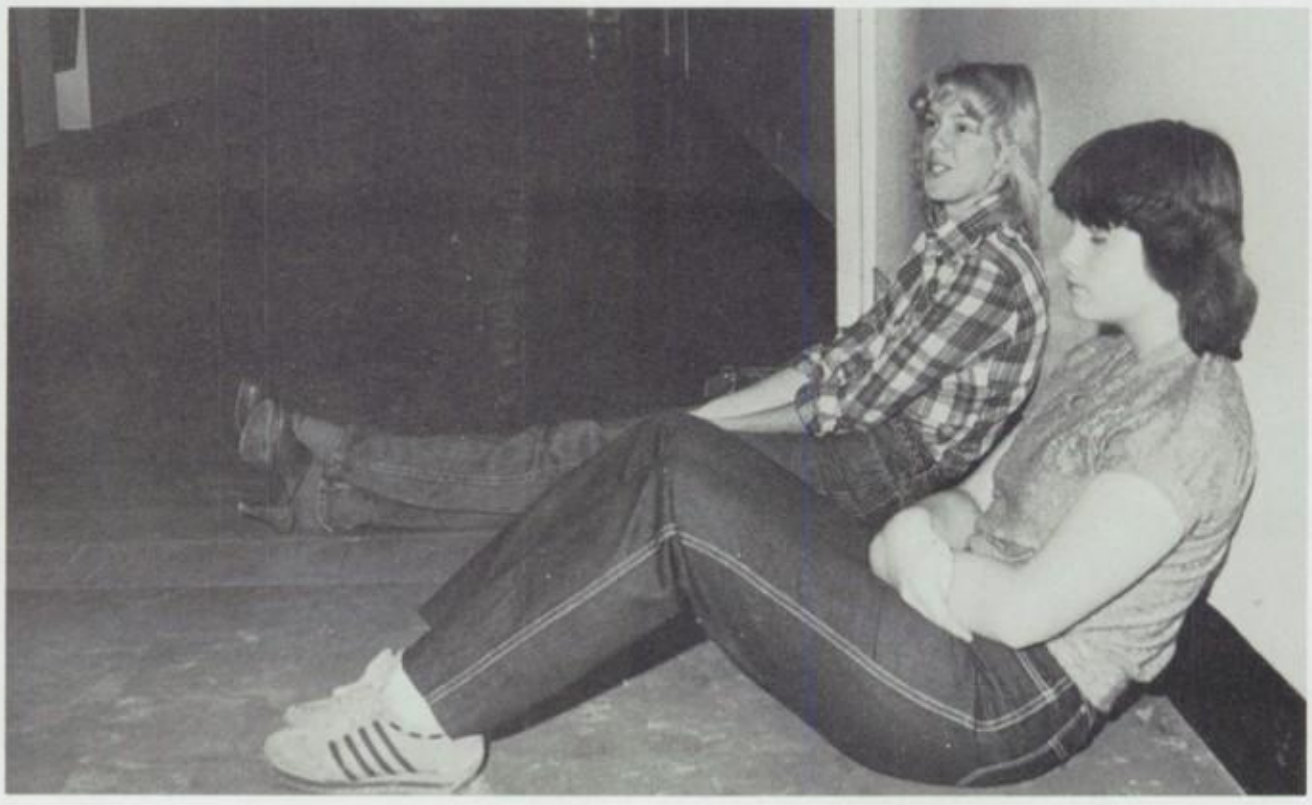
This year's people

People: the individuals at R-B who add to the unique chemistry of the student population. Virtually every facet of adolescent life is represented: the creative student, the athlete, the literary-minded or the student whose afterschool time is devoted to a job. All of these types add diversity and spark to the student body at R-B. A school is merely a brick structure bound by mortar and cement — the people are what makes it flourish.



Thanks

Be it counting change behind a cafeteria counter, keeping records in the library, or repairing broken water pipes, the R-B staff helps keep it together.

Without constant maintenance work done by the custodial staff our school surely could not continue to operate. Their painting and polishing is a vital and appreciated part of R-B.

The secretaries help keep everything from student schedules to financial records neat and orderly. And we can't forget the personnel service kept in all the offices.

The library and audio-visual are always willing to lend a hand. They taught us how to find information, and operate all the complicated A-V machinery. Term papers certainly would be impossible without their helpful guidance.

As lunch time rolls around, the food service staff are always there to keep us going until we can raid that refrigerator at home.

Without this dedicated group of men and women the school couldn't function.

Teachers

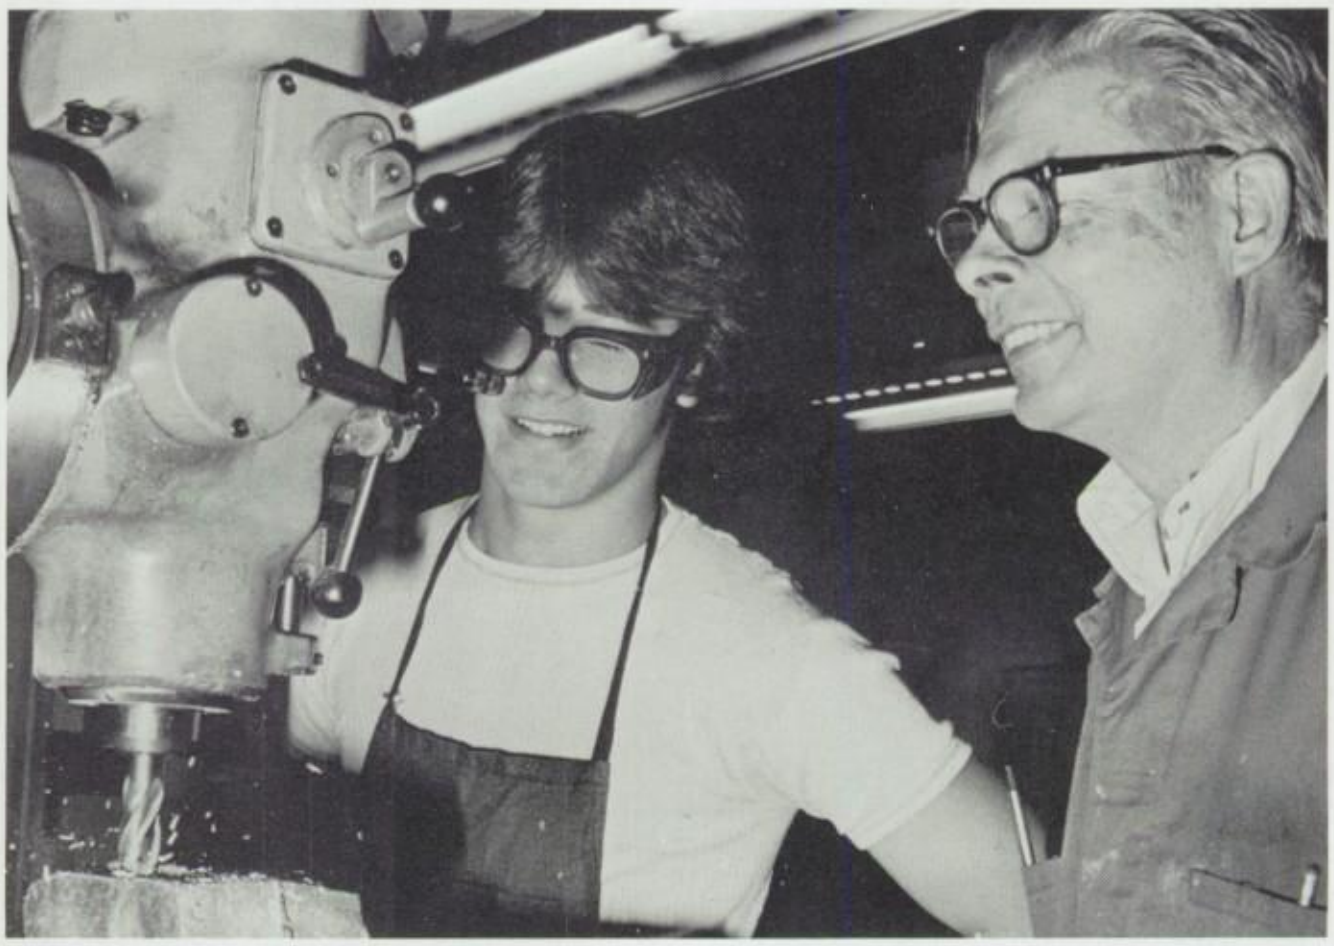
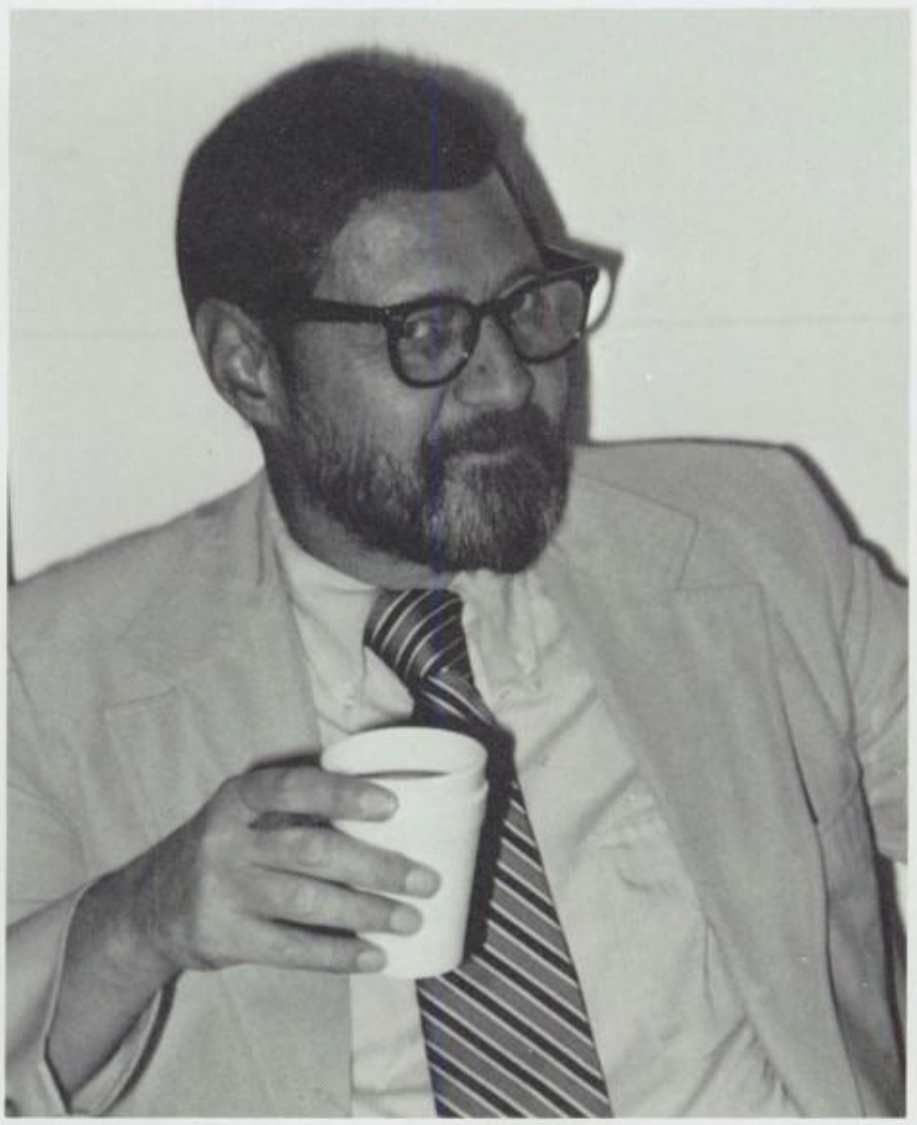
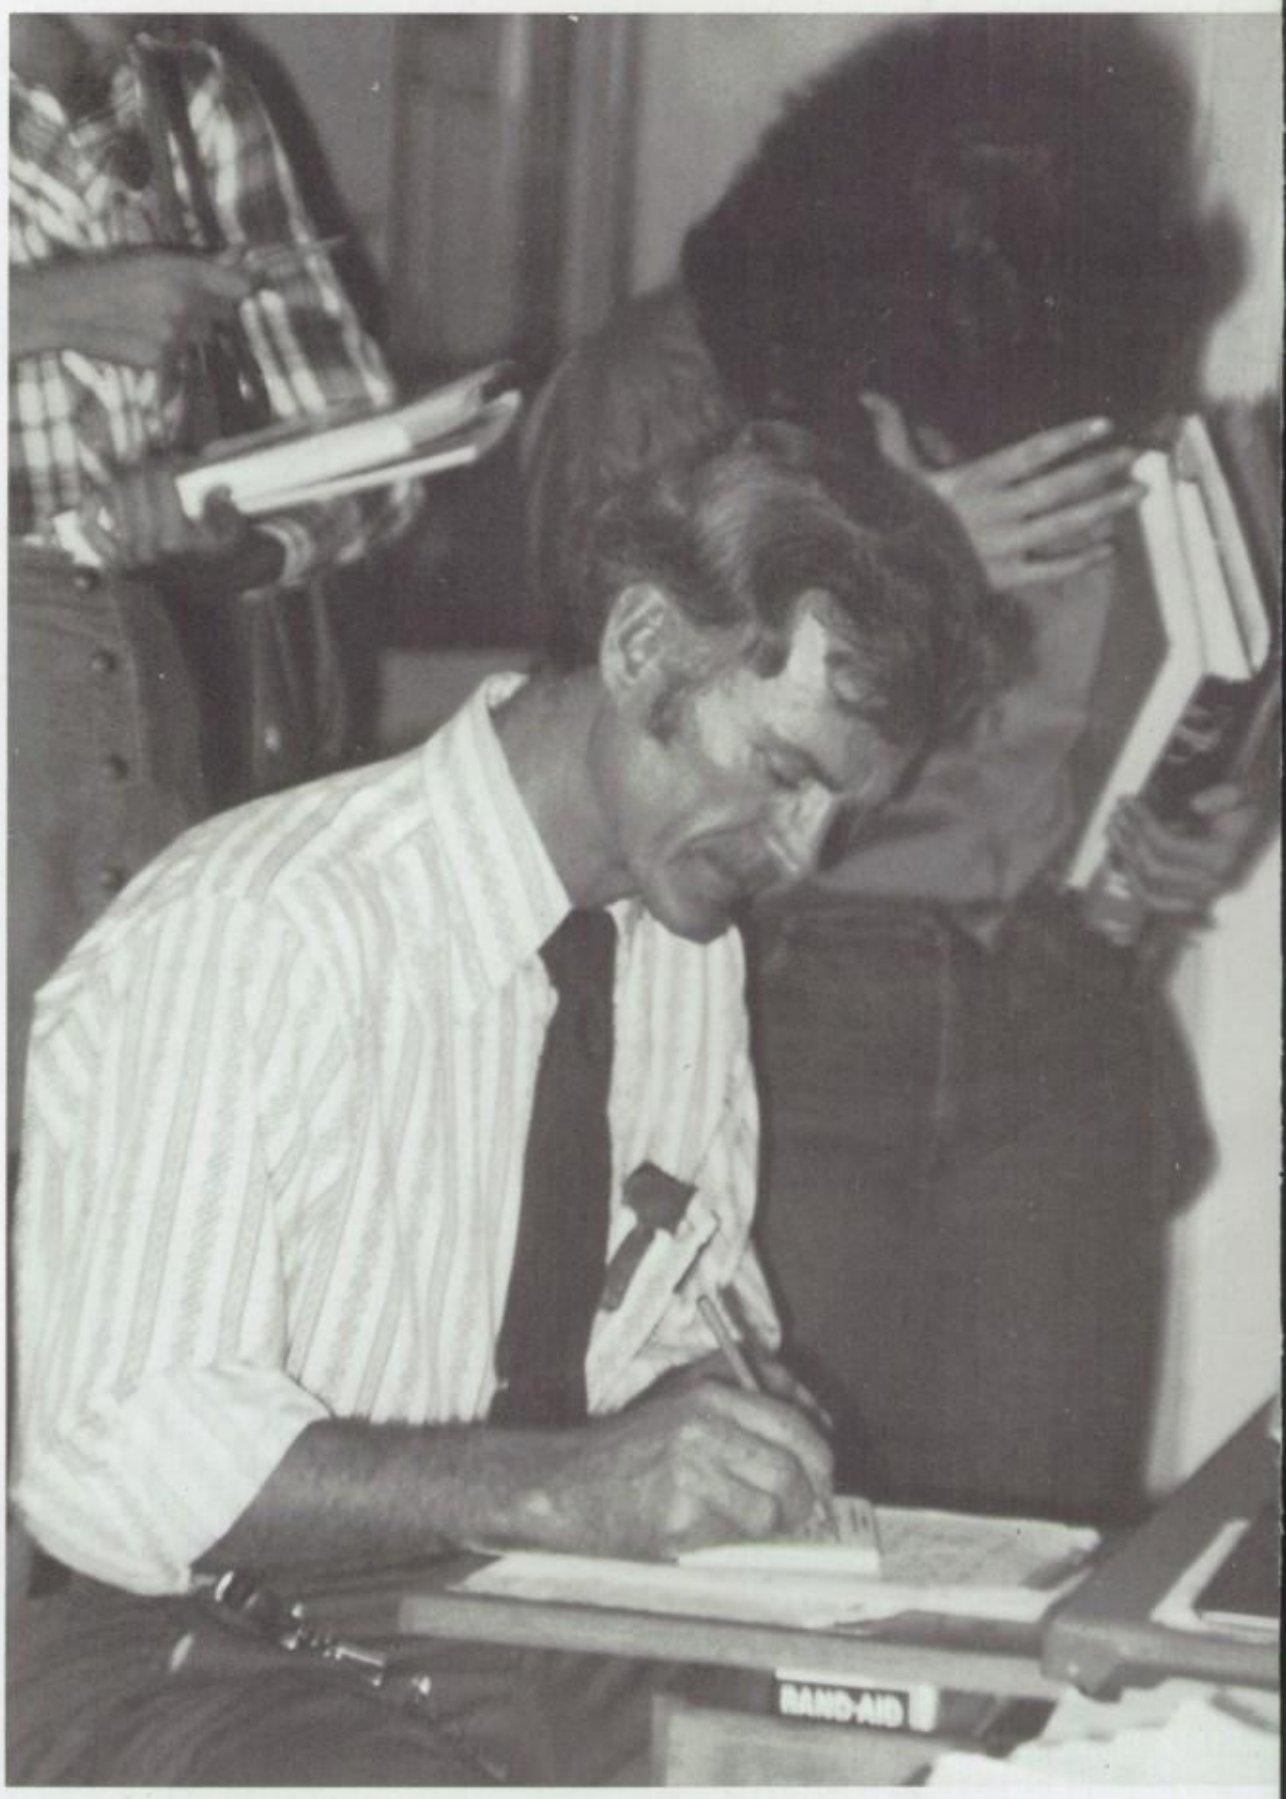
An essential part of R-B life was the teachers. Each had their own special methods and special styles. This added interest and almost "excitement" to an R-B students day, because as everyone knows, without a good teacher, the class is a failure. Fortunately, R-B has an abundant supply of good teachers! Pictured: Miss Hardy, Miss Chuduk, Mr. Jenkins, and Mr. Swanson.



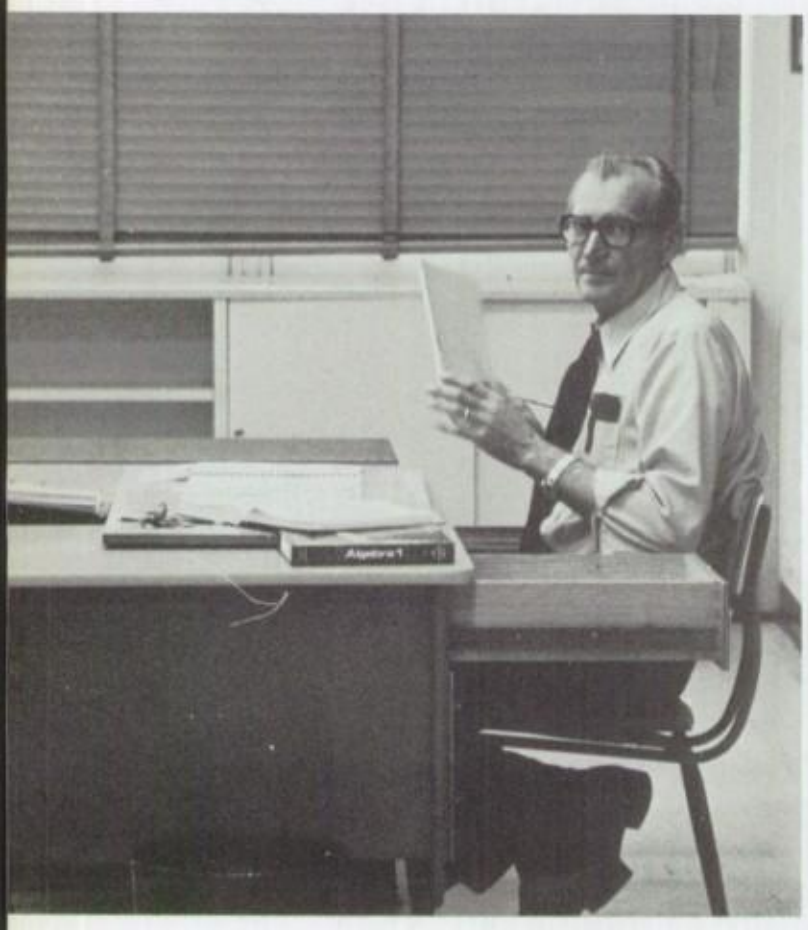


Teachers

Everyone knows that it's the teacher that either makes or breaks the class. A good teacher can make a class like English an enjoyable experience. R-B teachers have a special talent for really getting involved with their students. Arriving here between 7:00 and 7:30 and sometimes not leaving until after 4, a teacher's day is often a long one. At first, a new teacher is hassled a little by his or her students. Eventually, students learn what to expect from teachers and a true learning experience begins to grow.



As hurried students wait impatiently behind him, Mr. Fee fills out hall passes.



Caught off guard, Mr. Zbrowski looks up from his work.

Teaching a rather small Russian class, Mr. Konscious is able to devote personal attention to each student.

Demonstrating the art of silkscreening, Miss Chuduk shows the students the first step.

Filling time while on hall guard duty, Mrs. Dovak corrects her students homework.

Discussing The Lord of the Flies, Mrs. Johnston parallels the theme to the Bible.

Using the aid of an overhead, Mr. Extrom explains the theory of the conservation of matter.

Pep-Band

Serving as entertainment before and after home basketball games, and during halftime as well, was a relatively new aspect of the band, known as the Pep-Band. The Pep-Band is a small, but spirited group that plays current, popular songs to get R-B basketball fans into a rowdy mood. Pictured: Paul Windsor, Tom Hora, Bill Schulz, Andy Tedeschi, Mary Deleonardis, Tom Tedeschi, and Jim Kloss.

The day's end

For some students, the magic moment arrives at 2:10; for others, it is at 3:05, but nearly everyone looks forward to the end of the day. It is a time when books are stashed away in lockers, thoughts of school are left behind for awhile, and a student experiences several hours of enjoyable freedom. Some students spend this time at rehearsals; others sweat it out at strenuous practices; some go straight home or to an afterschool job. Whether student or teacher, everyone anticipates a day's end.

Get Happy!

Even on the dullest days of the school year, smiling R-B students could be seen throughout the halls. Warm smiles brightened the school and made the atmosphere more pleasant for everyone. Pictured: Tammy Tomazin, Sue Meksto, Mark Wisnewski and Christy Frank.

Munchies

One of the hardest things about going back to school is not getting to eat anytime the "munchies" attack. Often, students are caught day-dreaming about burritos, ice-cream bars, cookies, etc., around mid-morning. Eventually, the routine of "A", "B", OR "C" lunch sets in. Everyone has a favorite lunch, although "A" seems to be the most popular. Whenever lunch time rolls around, it's always a welcome change from class. Pictured: Kim Deutch, Bob Hutchison.

Accidents will happen.

For many years, R-B has had a tradition for clutzieness. This year is no exception. Many R-Bites have been spotted around the school in arm and leg casts from a wide variety of accidents. Pictured: George Bane and Dave Benes, John Wachter.

Jr. Float

After many hours of hard work, the Juniors took first place for best class float during Homecoming week-end. The class of '82 was understandably excited and proud of their achievement. The float was a giant tea pot with a Panther inside of it, coinsiding with the Oriental theme and the fact that the Homecoming game was played against the Proviso Panthers. Pictured: Don Josefchuk Janis Petrik, Mike Hahm, and the award-winning Junior tea pot float in the parade.

Transportation

A mode of transportation to school was a dilemma for a few R-B students. Some resorted to using a car, perhaps getting a ride from parents, friends, or a car-pool. Some lucky upper-classmen were able to drive their own cars and utilize the student lot. For those less fortunate, there were the RTA buses, bicycles, and the oldest method of all, walking. With a variety of choices, getting to school was not all that difficult.

At Home

For four years, an R-B student's locker is his or her home away from home. Almost everyone has found a way to make their locker reflect their personality. This can be done with wall paper, pictures, posters, and, in some cases, garbage. All in all, a person's locker tells a lot about its owner, and knowing a person's locker is almost like knowing the person!

JUNIORS

An important part of our R-B family are the Juniors, the class of '82. Enjoying the fact that they are now upper-classmen, smiling Juniors could be seen all over the school. We could only capture some of them on film. Pictured: Karole Gaydusek, Sue Waszak, Mike Hahm and Don Josefchuk, Laura O'Brien, Julie Ogdon and Barb Dow, Sherry Schroeder.

Face off

One of the interesting aspects of taking an art class is the diverse types of projects you get to attempt. These are a sampling of projects by students in a sculpture class. As always, R-B art students manage to put a lot of feeling and a little of themselves into their work.

Class of '84 Officers

The energetic freshmen class officers worked hard this year to represent their class. Among their achievements was winning best car award in the Homecoming parade. In the years to come, the class of '84 will offer a lot of enthusiasum and hard work to R-B. Pictured: Beth Landahl, Liz Reyes, Sue Bensfield, Sue Denniston.

BOO!

This year, many of the R-B Thespians took part in the Jaycee Haunted House by dressing in bizarre costumes and scaring anyone who entered the house out of their wits! An unsuspecting person, upon entering the house could expect to be screamed at, chased, grabbed by unseen spooks, etc. All those who dared to go into the house agreed that it was an enjoyable, although horrifying experience. Golf Road, the street many people use to get into the Student parking lot, recently went through extensive repairs. The old road resembled an obstacle course, with its potholes, bumps, and cracks. The new road is a pleasant change from the old whip-lash causing one.

The Rouser would like to thank:
Mr. Bob Moorhead of the Walsworth Publishing Company
The terrific people at Anthony Studios
Steve Smith - Cover Photo
John Wachter - for bailing us out time after time.

The ROUSER would also like to apologize to any person or club that was left out of the yearbook. Due to an extreme reduction in staff, we were unable to cover clubs and activities as thoroughly as we have in the past.

Ms. Lakides also apologizes to Terry about the yellow layout, but that's the breaks.

Ken ~
You're so weird
it's pathetic and I loved every minute of eating
lunch at the same table (every if it got a little gross at times). See ya' next year.
Joanne Borulski

Ken,
Although I so you only in though, I can tell you're really intense & bizarre.
Stay that way.

Love,
Lauren
